VOL. XXVI, NO. 244 GAINESVILLE, FLORIDA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1909 TEN CENTS A WEEK

KELLEY OFF TO MINES; LEFT COMRADE IN JAIL

Feeling Despondent Over Failure to Escape Jail, Accepts the Court's Sentence.

After being confined in the Putnam county jail in Palatka since they were tried for murder of Special Agent W. H. Sellars of the Atlantic Coast Line at High Springs, convicted, and sentenced to life imprisonment, J. M. Kelley and D. M. Davidson have been separated, Kelley having been sent to the State prison camps to begin his sentence.

Thus begins another chapter in the history of this crime and its subsequent incidents—a crime which has attracted the entire State of Florida, on account of the prominence of the murdered man, the manner in which his life was taken from the result of a deadly gun fired from the dark, and the prominence which was given to all the proceedings following the arrest of Kelley and Davidson.

This story has been repeated through the columns of the State press so often that there is doubtless no person of readable age, especially in this section, who has not become thoroughly acquainted with the facts. A brief review of the case may be made, however, as follows:

Chapter I.

Late in the summer of 1906, Special Officer Sellars of Tampa was sent to High Springs by the Atlantic Coast Line to ferret out, if possible, a system of wholesale stealing of goods from the box cars in the High Springs yards. Sellars was on duty only a few hours, when he was assaulted in a dark and secreted spot by some person or persons, who used a shotgun as the deadly weapon which ended the unfortunate officer's life very abruptly. The tragedy caused a great deal of excitement at the time, and it was about a year afterwards that Kelley was arrested charged with the murder, in Jacksonville, and brought to jail in this city.

Chapter II.

At the next session of the grand jury of Alachua county an indictment was returned against D. M. Davidson connecting him with the crime. Upon learning of this indictment Davidson, who was in High Springs, started to Gainesville, he alleged on the witness stand at the hearing, to surrender, but was intercepted at Paradise, five miles north of Gainesville, by an officer, who placed him under arrest. He was also brought to Gainesville and placed in prison, where he remained with Kelley until the trial in Palatka, a change of venue having been granted and the case transferred to Putnam county.

Chapter III.

In the spring of the present year, at a special term called for the purpose, Kelley and Davidson were arraigned, and after a brilliant legal battle on both sides lasting about a week, both defendants were found guilty, and recommended to the mercy of the court, and were sentenced to life-imprisonment at hard labor, when an appeal was taken, after the court had refused to grant the motion for a new trial. At the time of the sentence, Kelley made a statement to the effect that Davidson was innocent of any connection with the crime, and afterwards made affidavit in prison to the same effect.

Chapter IV.

While the men were in prison awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court in their case, they attempted to escape, securing a number of small saws and other tools, which were smuggled into jail in a package of laundry by a negro woman. This incident occurred after Kelley's affidavit, but it is understood that he exonerated Davidson of any attempt to escape.

Chapter V.

Nothing further of note occurred until Kelley, probably feeling that his actions would have an adverse effect in his case for appeal, withdrew his request and decided to begin his life sentence, with the result that he was taken to the camp.

Davidson is still in the Putnam county prison, pending the decision of the Supreme Court in his case.

Another interesting event in the history of this case, which furnished a tinge of romance, was the marriage of Davidson to a Waycross girl, the ceremony being performed in prison after the man had been found guilty and sentenced for life.

BROWN—BROWN.

A most beautiful marriage was witnessed by friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown, at 3 o'clock Thursday evening, Nov. 11th, when their daughter, Miss Mary Matilda Brown, was given in marriage to Mr. Henry F. Brown of Tampa, Fla., Rev. J. W. Colson officiating.

The groom was dressed in a nice suit of blue, while the bride was dressed beautifully in white.

The bride is well-known and popular, having been raised here, and has many friends who regret to lose her, while the groom is a popular young man of Tampa, where he holds a position.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were to leave Friday for their future home at Tampa, but were delayed on account of the sad illness of the bride's little sister.

May their lives be ever blessed with friends selected from the best.

Western Union Telegraph Co. Goes Into New Hands

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The control of the Western Union Telegraph Company passed yesterday to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and a long step was taken toward the merging of the telephone and telegraph companies into a corporation with a capitalization of nearly $1,000,000,000.

The announcement of the acquirement of the Western Union, known as the Gould property, by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, came from Boston. The acquisition of the Western Union and the recent absorption of district Bell Telephone companies in various parts of the country indicates that a large increase will be made in the present capitalization of the present company, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

PICKETT MADE GOOD ON BIG COTTON DEAL

DISPOSED OF SEASON'S HOLDING TO SAVANNAH PARTIES.

The Lot Consisted of 223 Bales and Good Prices Prevailed, Aggregating $22,000.

A cotton deal involving two hundred and twenty-three bales of long staple and $22,600 in cold cash was the good fortune of the Newberry section Tuesday, when H. A. Pickett, one of the most extensive planters and buyers in the county, released his entire holdings in a round sum, aggregating the above amount.

The staple is all of the present year's production, as Mr. Pickett disposed of all his holdings last season, and began buying in August of the present year.

The staple, which was purchased by a Savannah firm, was of good average quality. Mr. Pickett did not state the price paid per pound, but gave as the aggregate amount $22,000.

This deal is the largest consummated in the county by any one holder this season, and the second largest of any sale, the first sale being a deal in Alachua where a number of growers disposed of their holdings in a lump. This sale constituted about 500 bales, and commanded a fair price. The lot was also purchased by Savannah parties.

Friends of Mr. Pickett extend congratulations upon the successful consummation of this sale at the price received.

GRAND MASTER SELF.

Distinguished Official Paid Center Lodge, I. O. O. F., a Visit.

Monday night marked a pleasant occasion among the members of Center Lodge No. 11, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the local lodge having been favored with an official visit from Grand Master, Rev. Geo. D. Self, of DeLand.

Mr. Self's coming having been announced in advance, he was greeted by a good attendance, and the meeting passed off in a most pleasant and impressive manner.

When the lodge had been formally opened by Noble Grand W. P. Moseley, the visitor was presented, and delivered a most interesting address, in which he dwelt with great ferver upon the charitable work done by the order, and the good and brotherly feeling which prevailed in the rank of Odd Fellowship. He stated that this order performed more acts of charity than all other fraternities combined.

At the conclusion of Grand Master Self's address, those present participated in a smoker, when several informal talks for the good of the order were made.

Gainesville's Steeplejack.

Few people in Gainesville realize that this city can boast of a real, live and fearless "steeplejack," in the person of Geo. H. Sherman, who has probably attained a higher point than any painter in this section of the State.

The matter of painting steeples and tall smoke stacks is a risky proposition, as it endangers the life of any man who undertakes the job. It requires nerve to scale these objects, but Mr. Sherman is possessed of that quality of nerve which has caused him to ascend many a lofty point when others felt a delicacy in tackling the job.

Mr. Sherman has just completed the work of painting the two big smoke stacks at the uptown factory of the Diamond Ice Company. These stacks are one hundred feet high, and the painter while at work at the top, resembled, in proportion, a fly on the end of a walking stick.

TROOPS STAND GUARD TO PROTECT ENTOMBED MEN

This Action Taken to Prevent Untoward Demonstration When Bodies Are Recovered.

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 17.—Two companies of militia from Galesburg and one from Kewannee, under command of Col. Dickson, have been ordered here.

The troops were called for to prevent any untoward demonstration at the St. Paul coal mine when the bodies of the 300 men entombed by last Saturday's disaster are brought to the surface. Sheriff Skoglund of Bureau county telegraphed to Springfield asking Governor Deneen to send several companies of militia.

So far there has been no violence and it is hoped by the presence of a small guard to prevent any ill-advised move on the part of the miners, whose feelings have been wrought up by the loss of their comrades.

When the entombed men, or more likely their bodies, will be brought to the surface is doubtful. None of the officers believe that any of the 300 men are alive, but nothing more is now actually known about their fate than was known the day of the accident.

Fire Makes Mine Inferno.

Fire in the mine yesterday was even more intense than it was when the men were entrapped and no efforts could be made to enter the shaft.

Fire Chief Horan of Chicago has arrived with assistance and a supply of hose and chemical fire extinguishers. The seal over the mouth of the shaft was perforated and it was intended to force water and chemicals down through pipes. A thermometer plunged into the sand scattered on top of the seal showed a temperature of 119 degrees, indicating that the heat in the interior of the mine must have been intense.

"It's no use," said Chief Horan. "To lift the lid today would mean that the whole mine would blaze up and there would be no possibility of recovering even the bodies. The coal deposits would take fire and the timber supports would crumble."

George S. Rice of Pittsburg, chief of the field work of the United States Geological Survey, also was positive that the reopening of the mine would have to be postponed.

The only progress made yesterday was in organizing relief work for the many destitute remnants of families.

In making the rounds of the miners' homes, Duncan McDonald, president of District No. 12, United Mine Workers, yesterday discovered that eighty-six of the homes visited were, with the exception of small children, without males.

Only the most frantic of the women who lost husbands ventured to visit the shaft yesterday and these had to be almost forcibly taken back. Frequently a puff of smoke issued from a crevice in the cover over the shaft. This was taken as an evidence of the fire raging within. It was cold enough outside, an icy wind sweeping over the prairies and whistling mournfully through the superstructure of the mine.

No Hope for 300 Men.

Funerals of eight of the miners who were killed Saturday were held yesterday. Two of these died while engaged in rescue work. Several of the miners on duty at the shaft left their work to follow the processions to the cemetery and then hurried back to help at the mine.

The opinion was expressed last night by Mine Manager Taylor that the men in the mine died soon after the fire started on Saturday. Taylor has repeatedly risked his life to go into the mine and Monday he was all but lost when he wandered 200 feet from the main shaft and returned just in time to see the rekindled flames eating their way toward the main cage, his only means of escape.

"The men in the mine are dead," said Taylor last night. "They cannot be alive. Under any process of scientific reasoning there can exist no ground for hope that a single soul could have been found alive an hour after the first fire. To make these poor people think that when the mine is opened their loved ones will be found in some remote portion of the mine is cruel."

Six Men Entombed When Earth Caved In

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 17.—Six workmen were killed and a number of others barely escaped death when 4,000 cubic feet of earth caved in and entombed a construction force engaged in building a concrete viaduct at Salem creek, south of this place, on the South-bound railroad at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The dead:

Lesso Freasland, Carnal Bulling, Carl Dortschmidt, Liebbman Lippner, Alfred Lippner.

The last named four are Germans, who recently came here from New York.

Oscar Mix of Norfolk, Va., was slightly injured.

The men were at work on the foundation for the trestle abutment when the earth, towering thirty feet above, suddenly caved, burying them beneath the heavy load. Rescue work was immediately begun when a second caving occurred, catching a number of the rescuing party.

These latter, however, were soon brought to the surface. The first body was recovered within thirty minutes, and the last within two hours of the occurrence of the catastrophe. The men died of suffocation, not one of the bodies being in the least mutilated. The coroner will conduct an investigation.

ELECTION AT HAWTHORN.

Was Held Tuesday to Determine for a Sub-Road District, Etc.

With a desire to create a sub-road district for the Hawthorn section, together to determine a millage and elect three road trustees, the people of the Hawthorn section held an election Tuesday, the result of which has not yet been received here, although it is safe to say that the election carried in favor of creating a district.

The people of Hawthorn and vicinity have become thoroughly aroused over the matter of good roads, as they are anxious to keep apace with other sections of the State and county, and in this they have the hearty co-operation of the Board of County Commissioners and citizens generally.

THE CIRCUIT COURT GRINDING SLOWLY

ONLY TWO CASES DISPOSED OF BEFORE THAT TRIBUNAL.

Jim Lundy Found Guilty of Murder in Third Degree—Sentence Suspended in Stiles Case.

The Circuit Court convened at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, Judge Wills presiding and all officials in their respective positions.

The jury in the case of the State of Florida vs. Jim Lundy, charged with murder, which had been out all of Tuesday night, filed into court and returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the third degree. L. W. Jackson was foreman of the jury.

In the case of the State vs. Ben Stiles, an aged white man who plead guilty the latter part of last week to selling liquor, appeared before the court for sentence, when the court announced that sentence would be suspended pending good behavior. The defendant thanked the court, assuring His Honor Judge Wills that he would "behave himself," and retired.

The special venire of fifty, summoned for the purpose of selecting a jury for the trial of the State vs. Lewis Martin, Cronin Martin and George Powers, charged with rape, was returned by the sheriff, and the following jury was qualified:

H. C. Parrish, S. S. Polk, M. H. Slaughter, E. H. Waters, T. P. Boulware, J. E. Hays, B. F. Kite, J. R. Zetrouer, Jr., T. B. Means, M. N. Sanchez, C. S. Bennett, W. G. English.

The case went to trial, and several witnesses were examined before the adjournment of the court shortly after 6 o'clock until 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

WILLISTON IS PROSPERING.

Williston Manufacturing Co. Developing That Thriving Town.

Williston, which has always been one of the progressive villages of Levy county, continues to forge ahead, being pushed by such energetic concerns as the Williston Manufacturing Company.

Among the most important improvements in Williston of recent date may be mentioned the elegant new hotel, the Hotel Savoy, which is just completed, and which would be a credit to any town of much larger population.

Hotel Savoy is constructed of wood, and the architecture is very attractive. It contains in the neighborhood of twenty-five rooms, is equipped with modern conveniences, and inasmuch as the hostelry is to be operated under the management of Mrs. Morgan, formerly of Meredith, it will no doubt prove a popular resort among the traveling men.

The Williston Manufacturing Company, owners of Hotel Savoy, have also completed an elegant two-story brick building. The dimensions are 40x75 feet. The lower floor will be occupied as a bank and store, while the second story will be devoted to offices.

The good people of Williston are to be congratulated upon their energy, which has brought that town into prominence throughout this entire section.

Mrs. Waters Indisposed.

Frineds of Mrs. Rosa Waters—in fact the public patrons generally of the postoffice—have missed her from the general delivery window for the past two or three days, and regretted to learn that she was indisposed. Mrs. Waters and Mrs. Zetrouer form a most clever and accommodating pair at this window, and patrons feel lost without them. Mrs. Zetrouer has been exercising every effort to fill the position since Mrs. Waters' illness, but finds it difficult, as the position really requires the service of two clerks. It is hoped that Mrs. Waters will be enabled to resume her position within the next day or two.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTION.

"The Servant In the House" Is Said to Be Fine.

It is a curious fact that "The Servant In the House," which Gainesville will have an opportunity to see tonight at the Baird, seldom elicits applause from an audience until the curtain has descended on the last act climax. As a matter of fact the members of the company use every effort to avert applause before the end of the play. To them, holding their auditors in breathless attention until the inevitable ovation at the end of the play, is the greatest triumph they can achieve—the spectacle of an absolutely motionless and perfectly quiet audience, for "The Servant In the House" has been witnessed in every big city in the United States. In its criticism of the first performance in San Francisco, The San Francisco Examiner called attention to this unusual feature. "A first night audience at the Van Ness Theatre," the critic said, "followed the play with breathless interest. And at the finish—for the last act is the most acutely dramatic of all—there was no hurrying with wraps, no noise of shuffling feet. When came the fall of the curtain there followed an outburst of applause which lasted until the stage was disclosed again, with the acting cast bowing its concerted acknowledgements. And the curtain went up again and Charles Rann Kennedy, the author, came down to the footlights. Very briefly, very heartily, he thanked San Francisco for its welcome. It is not often that such a demonstration comes at the conclusion of any play. You may go season after season without seeing so entirely compelling a play as 'The Servant In the House,' or a cast of players so adequate to the drama's demands."

RADIANT HAIR.

New York Society Women's Hair Matched Only by Parisians.

For many years the clever women of Paris have been famed for the magnificent beauty of their hair.

"Glorious hair," a Virginian calls it; "so radiant and luxuriant that it not only attracts but fascinates, and compels unstinted admiration."

But now that the elite of New York, ever anxious to improve their beauty, have learned that Parisian Sage, a remarkable and almost marvelous hair nourisher and beautifier, is almost entirely responsible for the charming hair of the ladies of France, the demand for it has become enormous.

A Philadelphia chemist who analyzed Parisian Sage said: "It is the ideal dressing for the hair. The ingredients are so scientifically combined that Parisian Sage is first of all a hair grower, because it surely destroys dandruff germs, and nourishes the hair roots.

"Second, it puts life, substance and brilliancy into the hair, which improves the attractiveness of any one.

"Third, it is very delicately scented; is not a particle sticky or greasy, and does not contain one atom of anything that could possibly injure scalp or hair."

Parisian Sage is now sold all over America by progressive druggists, and in Gainesville by W. M. Johnson, who is glad to guarantee it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

Price 50 cents. Made in America by Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y., who fill mail orders. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

The habit of answering ads. that appeal to you is one that will keep you interested in the life you are living, and prosperous.

FATHER 80-MOTHER 76

The aged father and mother of a prominent Boston lawyer safely carried through the last two winters by

Vinol

The son says: "My father and mother owe their present strength and good health to Vinol. During the last two trying winters neither of them had a cold, and were able to walk farther and do more than for years. I think Vinol is perfectly wonderful. It certainly is the greatest blood-making, strengthening tonic for old people I ever heard of."

We want every feeble old person in this town to try Vinol. We will return their money without question if it does not accomplish all we claim for it.

w towns in the State outside of county seats can boast of the t showing that is being made by progressive element of Micanopy, within the past three years it grown from almost a small vill- to quite a little city, with large ample brick buildings for the ac- modating merchants.

here is now some twelve brick ings in the place and they are occupied by live, up-to-date merch- s who believe in the word hustle their every effort shows that they up to it.

The Sun representative was pleas- to visit the city again on Tuesday noted with much interest the ked improvement that had been de in the business houses, as well the immense stocks now being car- by the merchants.

We found our old friends, Dr. Mont- mery, Dr. Watkins, E. C. Chitty, E. Thrasher, N. B. Mott and others busy people, but ever ready to e some time to the stranger.

Just at the present time that place much worked up over the schedule mail service that is being furn- ed them and they are working ng the same lines that Gainesville started for a better service, both to mail and passenger.

From communications received by Watkins, it seems that they will rewarded in their efforts, which ows the great amount of enterprise energy they possess.

The trucking interests, which large- support Micanopy, are not as great this season as formerly, but there a number of very fine farms in neighborhood and bean and pea ipping is plentiful. The cabbage op, which is just now being trans- nted, is promising, and the early ring will show great activity and enty of truck for the markets.

Some of the packing houses are en and choice oranges and grape- uit are being shipped, but the mar- ket is not as satisfactory as could be, and will cause others to hold their fruit.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Camden, N.J.— "It is with pleasure that I add my testimonial to your already long list—hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of this valuable medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from terrible headaches, pain in my back and right side, was tired and nervous, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health and made me feel like a new person, and it shall always have my praise." —Mrs. W. P. VALENTINE, 902 Lincoln Avenue, Camden, N. J.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

NEWS OF CITY AND COUNTY CONDENSED

B. N. Smith of Alachua was transacting business in this city yesterday.

R. D. Medlin left yesterday for a short business and pleasure trip to Jacksonville.

George L. Taylor of Palmer was in the city yesterday, having been summoned on business.

Mrs. L. V. Polk of Hague has arrived in the city and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cellon.

J. W. and W. G. English and P. D. Sherard of Tacoma formed a trio of visitors to the county capital Tuesday.

E. M. Howard, the genial proprietor of the Ocala Steam Laundry, was transacting business in this city yesterday.

J. E. Wainwright and daughter, Miss Julia, are at home again, after a pleasant visit to relatives at Pierson, Volusia county.

Chas. Slaughter, a well-known and successful naval stores operator of Micanopy, was transacting business in Gainesville Tuesday.

Moses Slaughter and Sam Hardy, progressive farmers of the Trenton section, were transacting business in the county capital yesterday.

S. S. Polk, H. C. Parrish and H. W. Taylor of Bell are in the city, having been summoned here on business connected with the circuit court.

Among those from Trenton who are here in attendance upon the court are Charles Fletcher and R. H. Doke, two well-known young men of the West End.

Mrs. Fincher of Alachua passed through this city Tuesday en route home from Edgar, Putnam county, where she has been on a visit to relatives.

S. A. Shipman, special agent of the United States general land office, has gone to Mobile, Ala., and other points, on official business. He expects to be absent several days.

F. J. Park, of the United States general land office, has gone to Worthington Springs and vicinity, where he will look after Government interests for the next two or three days.

Messrs. B. M. Williams and J. R. McClamroch of Ocala were in the city yesterday. These gentlemen are engaged as department contractors on the Government building in the Brick City.

Mrs. Sarah Kellar of Lysander, N. Y., has arrived in the city, and will spend the winter here. This is her first visit, and she is well pleased with the city and those whom she has met here.

Green C. Chaires of Bell was among the well-known citizens of the West End who came to Gainesville on business Tuesday. Mr. Chaires has many friends here who are always glad to welcome him.

C. O. Robison of Kirkwood was among those who favored the county capital with a visit Tuesday. Mr. Robison owns one of the handsomest and most prolific orange groves in that section of the county.

Chas. W. Bartleson, Jr., of Jacksonville, is in the city and has entered the law department of the University of Florida. Mr. Bartleson formerly resided here and has many friends who are glad to greet him again.

Among the prominent transportation men of the State is H. E. Partridge, Jr., Florida agent of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, who makes his headquarters in Jacksonville. Mr. Partridge is in the city in the interest of his line.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wood and Monroe Venable of Archer were among the visitors to the city Tuesday. They came in Mr. Venable's handsome Ford car, and made the time in one hour and ten minutes, which is good, considering the condition of the road.

Among those who spent Monday in this city was Dr. Frank McRae of Melrose, who came over in his handsome little Brush runabout. Dr. McRae is well pleased with his machine which he has learned to manipulate with the efficiency of a professional.

The marriage docket has been rather slow for the past few weeks, but Judge Mason has issued a few licenses within the past two or three days. Among these was a license to J. F. Dowdy and Magdalina Cribbs, white, two well-known young people of the western section of the county.

S. O. Barron, the druggist of Bell and one of the leading spirits of that progressive town, was transacting business in Gainesville Tuesday. Mr. Barron, like other residents of the West End, regrets the annulment of the Wilcox-Citra train, which afforded a great convenience to the people of his section.

C. V. McQueen of Lexington, one of the most widely-known citizens of the West End, was a business visitor to this city Tuesday. Mr. McQueen states that the crops and cattle are suffering severely for want of rain. The crops are scorching, while the ponds are dry, and the cattle secure water with great difficulty.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coe have gone to Limona, near Tampa, where they were called by telegram announcing the illness of the former's grandfather, Mr. Platt. They had just returned from a pleasant visit to Chattanooga and other points, and had not gotten rested good before they were enroute to the South Florida town in Mr. Coe's automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Dempsey and daughter, Mrs. J. T. Manning, arrived in the city yesterday morning from Asheville, N. C. Mrs. Dempsey and Mrs. Manning have been in North Carolina for the benefit of the latter's health for the past few weeks, and friends regret that her condition was not improved by the change. She is yet quite low, but it is hoped that the balmy Florida atmosphere will restore her to her normal health.

Isn't there something which only a want ad. can do for you today?

The Value of Good Digestion

Is easy to figure if you know what your stomach is worth. Kodol keeps the stomach at par value, by insuring good digestion. Kodol cures Dyspepsia.

Kodol insures good digestion by absolutely duplicating Nature's normal process, in perfectly digesting all food taken into the stomach.

While Kodol is doing this, the stomach is resting—and becoming strong and healthy. A strong and healthy stomach guarantees a sound and active brain.

The man with a sound stomach—a stomach that is doing for the body just what Nature intended it to do—is the man who is always prepared for any emergency. He is "there with the goods."

The man with a sick stomach, is a man sick all over. When the stomach is irritated by undigested food, the blood and heart are directly affected. Then dullness, unnatural sleepiness, sick-headaches, vertigo and fainting spells, and even serious brain trouble develop. Kodol will prevent these.

Spurring the stomach and brain to special effort by "tonics" and "stimulants" doesn't cure anything, or accomplish any good. Neither does dieting. Indigestion and the serious ailments which it induces can be averted and corrected only by natural means.

Kodol supplies this natural means. It performs the stomach's work for it—just as the stomach should perform it—while the stomach takes a little rest, "for the stomach's sake."

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

RAILROADS AS FOOTPATHS.

Speaking of the deaths resulting from persons using railroad tracks as footpaths, H. H. Windsor in The December Popular Mechanics says:

"Familiarity with danger induces a disregard of danger. The student who is unable to look down from a three-story building without being dizzy, becomes a mountain climber who delights in perilous positions, where a misstep means death in the chasm a half-mile deep. The naturalist who at first shuddered at the picture of a snake learns to take the most deadly serpents in his hands, while discoursing on the beauty of their head and eyes. Another, who as a child was terrified at a Fourth of July firecracker, hums a merry tune as he stirs a pan of nitroglycerin in the making. One who has grown to manhood without ever seeing a locomotive is overwhelmed with terror upon beholding one in motion for the first time.

"Our land has become such a network of railways bearing trains which dart back and forth at all hours that the people have become careless and use the tracks as a convenient and usually the shortest footpath. This practice is responsible for 47,416 deaths during the past ten years, an average of thirteen every day. Should thirteen persons be killed in a single railway accident our papers would devote front page columns to the event, while newspaper photographers filled other columns with pictures of the wreck and victims. And the number is rapidly increasing, due partly to more dense population and partly to the increasing disregard of danger. For instance, on the Pennsylvania system 781 were killed in 1904 in this manner, while the record for 1907 shows 915, or nearly three a day. * * * It is understood the railroads are uniting for a vigorous campaign to secure the enforcement of the present State laws against walking on their tracks, but an equally desirable improvement would be State legislation eliminating the grade crossing, or at least greatly reducing the number, and requiring bridges wherever the track is not clearly seen in each direction from the highway."

The conflict between the British Lords and Commons over the budget has advanced another stage. By the tremendous majority of 239, which showed an unbroken front on the part of the Liberals, the budget passed its third reading and now goes to the Lords. What they will do with it is uncertain. Probably the Lords themselves have not yet decided. That they would like to reject it everybody knows, but they are aware of the crisis such action would precipitate—a crisis that would likely result in a radical change of the constitution of the House itself. As the Lords have recently intensified public hostility by practically destroying the Irish land act, they may well hesitate as to their final action.

There is not much hope of the man who is so ignorant that he does not realize his ignorance. But of the man who knows he is ignorant and who seeks to get away from that condition there is every hope. With many people the trouble is that they seem ashamed to learn, therefore they remain destitute of knowledge.

WORK THAT TAKES STOUT HEARTS.

Belmore Browne, writing in Colliers' Weekly of one of the Cook expeditions to the region of Mt. McKinley, thus tells the story of the brutal hardships to which the men were subjected:

"We made our first exploring trip for a pass on foot. We followed the valley of the Yentna directly into the Alaskan range.

"We were fording glacial rivers constantly and our clothes were never dry. The glacial sand soaked through the thickest wool clothing and wore the skin from our bodies. We were 'rolled' often in the savage rapids, and our hands and knees were torn by the jagged rocks. Our faces were swollen from the attacks of the mosquito hordes.

"We traveled at night through the weird blue light of the snow fields, for when the northern sun touched the ice and snow the rivers roared like chained beasts and rose above their banks.

"When our food was nearly gone we found a pass.

"After the horses came we could no longer hug the rough mountainsides, but were forced into the open valleys. When, through sheets of cold rain, a river barred our path, we were forced to swim, no matter what its breadth or swiftness.

"Our horses were loaded with all they could carry, and in the fords we simply held on and took what came. In this pack-horse swimming, Professors Parker and Porter were so close to death in a watery grave that the rest of us gave up hope, and still 'the worst was yet to come.'

"We were stopped at last by the frowning walls of the Yentna canon. Dr. Cook, Fred Printz, Ed Barrill, and I took the four strongest horses and made a reconnaissance. The party divided at a fork one mile up the gorge, two of us going each way. In the afternoon the glaciers became great fountains of running water, and not one of us was able to reach camp by the canon route. The river at dusk was full of powdered ice from the glaciers above, and men and horses were helpless from the chill of the waters. The legs of our horses were so cut from the sharp rocks that they left a dark trail of blood on the canon floor. While trying to reach camp late in the evening, Barrill's horse was rolled in a whirlpool, Barrill holding helplessly to the mountain pack-saddle. At times I could see neither horse nor rider. Once on top of a swell, the horse's feet appeared lashing the white water. I never expected to see Barrill again, but he landed, numb with the cold, on a bar below, but his horse was played out, and they were forced to remain in the canon all night. I returned to camp on foot across the canon walls. On reaching camp, I found that Dr. Cook and Printz had had the same experience that we had, and that the Doctor had nearly lost his life in a rapid."

Now, one is inclined to ask, could men who could brave such dangers, and endure such untold suffering when they did not have to, be common liars? It is hard to think so, but Barrill has lied one way or another. When he accompanied Cook on his last expedition he wrote a diary telling how the ascent to the top had been made, and a few weeks ago he sold an affidavit saying this diary had been faked. Barrill is necessarily a liar, by choice, and he says Dr. Cook is one.

The work of paving Magnolia street in Ocala with vitrified brick is said to be progressing nicely, and it is hoped to have the street ready for use in two weeks' time.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Indianapolis News: "Senator Aldrich's theory is that credit is as good as cash for part of the way, but something else has to be done, you know, when the notes fall due.'

Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer: "Mr. John S. Kennedy, who gave thirty million dollars to education and to charity, did not hedge his gifts about with hard conditions. He must have been one of the ablest and wisest men of his generation, and yet did you ever hear of him until he died and left his big estate to education and charity?"

Washington Star: "This 'reading out of the party' proposition is of course absurd. No Republican is a member of his party by the leave of any other Republican. If he leaves, he reads himself out. Mr. Cummins and Mr. Cannon are both in the party, and will remain while they wish. The Republican program is not confined to the tariff. There is much to be done, and an important part of it must be shaped before the congressional elections of next year."

The man who is constantly looking for an easy position and the man who does as little as he can for the wages he receives will never make a success of life. The man who is in the line for promotion and a successful career is he who does not watch the clock for leaving off time, but who puts his conscience into his work and seek the interest of his employer.

As a consequence the same was organized and Mrs. Ketchum was elected president.

William A. Cook, who was frightfully slashed with a razor by Frank Richardson several days ago in Tampa, died Saturday night.

Orange City has frequently been visited by showers of late, hence a marked improvement has been noticed in the groves and gardens.

The firemen of West Palm Beach held their regular meeting last Friday and made arrangements for their annual Thanksgiving ball, which will be a masquerade affair this year.

The Zorayda Club in St. Augustine is being gotten in readiness to open for the season on Thanksgiving. The Knickerbocker Orchestra will again return to the club, with the latest musical hits from New York.

The torpedo boats Wikes, Thornton and Tingey arrived at the Pensacola navy yards late Saturday night from Texas ports, where they had been since escorting President Taft's flotilla down the Mississippi.

The Juniper Hunting Club, composed of prominent business and professional men of Kentucky, who recently purchased a tract of 25,000 acres of land east of the Ocklawaha river, are expected in Ocala soon for a stay of several days.

County Commissioner S. B. Owens of New Smyrna shot and instantly killed W. P. Robinson at Oak Hill Saturday night about dark. It seems that there was some dispute about a house that Robinson wanted to rent from Owens, and as the latter refused to rent it and walked away, Robinson pulled a knife and Owens had to fire in self-defense.

A. G. Hotchkiss started from a neighboring town recently for Jacksonville, and when just a few miles from his home the horses he was driving became frightened and before they could be controlled had dashed the wagon up against a stump. Mr. Hotchkiss was thrown to the ground and run over, breaking his collarbone and seriously bruising him.

There is a movement in St. Augustine to improve the Maria Sanchez creek, which wends its way well up into the southern part of that city. Two schemes have been suggested by which to beautify that section of St. Augustine. One is to construct a seawall at the creek where it is intersected by South street and to fill in the northern section of the creek, afterwards converting this part into a park. A second scheme is to construct a concrete bridge at South street, provided with flood gates, which would always keep the creek filled with water and renewed at every tide.

Returned to City.

Captain Chas. d'Martine and wife are again in the city, and friends are glad to welcome them. The former has been on an official visit to points in LaFayette county in the interest of the internal revenue department of the United States Government, while Mrs. d'Martine has been in Jacksonville, account of ill health. Friends will regret to learn that her condition is little improved, and she expects to return to the special care of a physician within the next few days.

Dyspepsia is America's curse. Burdock Blood Bitters conquers dyspepsia every time. It drives out impurities, tones the stomach, restores perfect digestion, normal weight, and good health.

REUNION OF SON AND DAUGHTER—CLIMAX OF "THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE"—AT BAIRD THEATRE THURSDAY NIGHT, NOVEMBER 18TH.

SOME RECKLESS SHOOTING.

Party of "Sports" Shot Into Home of John L. Chesser Monday.

John L. Chesser, who resides in the western section of the city in the vicinity of the University buildings, is "good mad," because some reckless fellows who wanted to be "sports" were firing promiscuously around his home Monday night, with the result that a ball from a pistol entered the home of Mr. Chesser and came near striking a member of his family, as was evidenced later by the mark on the wall.

Mr. Chesser was not home at the time, but was within a short distance, when he heard the report of the pistol and saw the flesh. Upon arriving at the house he was informed by Mrs. Chesser that the ball had entered the home.

Naturally Mr. Chesser was very much provoked at the recklessness in which the weapons were handled, and declares that the next time anything of that nature happens, and he is at home, he will endeavor to take a hand in the matter.

Dr. J. F. McKinstry, Jr., Elected to High Position in New Orleans.

Dr. and Mrs. J. F. McKinstry, Jr., have returned from New Orleans, where they have been on a pleasure trip, the former going to attend the meeting of the Southern Medical Association.

Dr. McKinstry had the honor of being elected vice-president of the association, which is not only an honor to himself, but to the State and the city, and friends throughout Florida will extend heartiest congratuations.

The Ministerial Association.

At a regular meeting of the Gainesville Ministerial Association, held Monday, the following resolutions were passed:

"Whereas, The City Council of Gainesville is without any fund whereby the indigent dead, sick and hungry can be attended to;

"Resolved, That this body petition the City Council of Gainesville to take some action, without any unnecessary delay, appropriating a sufficient sum to meet demands of this nature continually arising each year.

"Resolved, That a copy of this be presented to the council at their next meeting, and also to the city press for publication.

Married in Rochelle.

Justice J. A. Roberts of Rochelle was a visitor to the city Tuesday.

Justice Roberts states that on last Sunday afternoon he had the privilege and pleasure to unite in the holy bonds of matrimony Joseph Cherry of Rochelle and Miss Leola Leverett, a charming young lady of Irvine. The ceremony was performed in Rochelle, immediately after which the happy couple left for their future home in Irvine, followed by congratulations of many friends.

L. C. SMITH.

A Purist.

Most persons believe Stevenson's verses for children may, without correction or amendment, safely be placed in the hands of the impressionable youngster without corrupting either his morals or his English. But there are some who think otherwise, says an exchange.

Little Alice's mother, having taught the child to say, "Time to rise," in which "the birdie with a yellow bill" figures, the child announced that she meant to recite it to her teacher.

"Well, and what did Miss Prim say to 'the birdie with a yellow bill?'" asked Alice's mother when the little girl returned from school.

"She says it is quite a pretty thought. But this is the way she makes me say it now, mamma:

"A birdie with a yellow bill
Hopped upon the window sill,
Cocked his shining eye and said,
'Are you not ashamed, you sleepyhead?'"

"But that was not the way the birdie said it, Alice," the mother remonstrated.

"No, mamma; I know. But teacher says it isn't good English to say, 'Ain't you 'shamed, you sleepyhead?'"

A Tiny Baby

Can't tell you in words what the trouble is; but if it's complexion gets pasty, if it gets weaker and weaker, loses flesh and is cross and peevish, you can be certain that it has worms. Give it White's Cream Vermifuge, guaranteed harmless. Expels the worms and puts the baby in a healthy normal condition. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Survivel of Fittest.

Miss Helen Muthers thinks that the decline of the novel is due to a large extent to motorcars. There is no doubt that a large class of readers have been almost entirely eliminated by these vehicles. We refer to those persons who used to read as they walked along the roadway.—London Punch.

When you have a cold the first thing to do is have the bowels move. Do not take anything that may constipate—and most old fashioned cough cures do constipate. Try Kennedy's Laxitive Cough Syrup. It drives the cold from the system by a free yet gentle action of the bowels; it stops the cough, it is pleasant to take. Children like it. Sold by all druggists.

Painful Cleanliness.

From a Vienna paper:

"Comfortable pension for English visitors; good kitchen with continental eatables, or plain rosbeef with pottato for same price nice sleeping rooms with open windows; painful cleanliness; numerous extraordinary references."—St. James' Gazette.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers—the safe sure, gentle, easy little liver pills. Be sure to get DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve, the original. Always refuse substitutes and imitations. The original DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve is good for anything a salve is used for, but it is especially good for piles. Sold by all druggists.

Youth and Old Age.

"Before a man is thirty he falls in love with every pretty girl he looks at."

"Yes, and after he is thirty he falls in love with every pretty girl who looks at him."—Stray Stories.

For Feverishness and Aching

Whether from Malarious conditions, colds or overeating, try Hicks' Capudine. It reduces the fever and relieves the aching. It's liquid—10, 25 and 50 cents at drug stores.

A STARTLING STATEMENT

New York Medical Authorities Claim Dyspepsia to Be a Pre-Disposing Cause of Consumption.

The post mortem statistics of the big New York hospitals show that some cases of consumption are due, at least indirectly, to unchecked dyspepsia, especially when the victim was predisposed to tuberculosis.

Dyspepsia wears out the body and brain. The weakened, irritable stomach being unable to digest food, the body does not receive the required nourishment, and the victim becomes thin, weak and haggard. As a result, the body becomes a fertile field in which the germs of disease may lodge and flourish.

Therefore, the person who permits dyspepsia to progress unhindered is guilty of contributing toward the development of one of the most insidious and fatal diseases known to mankind.

Dyspepsia may be completely eradicated if properly treated. We sell a remedy that we positively guarantee will completely relieve indigestion or dyspepsia, or the medicine used during the trial will cost the user nothing.

This remedy has been named Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Certainly no offer could be more fair, and our offer should be proof positive that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a dependable remedy.

Inasmuch as the medicine will cost you nothing if it does not benefit you, we urge you who are suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. A 25-cent box contains enough medicine for fifteen days' treatment. For chronic cases we have two larger sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Gainesville only at our store—The Rexall Store. J. W. McCollum & Co., corner East Main and Union streets.

Feeling Despondent Over Failure to Escape Jail, Accepts the Court's Sentence.

After being confined in the Putnam county jail in Palatka since they were tried for murder of Special Agent W. A. Sellars of the Atlantic Coast Line at High Springs, convicted, and sentenced to life imprisonment, J. M. Kelley and D. M. Davidson have been separated, Kelley having been sent to the State prison camps to begin his sentence.

Thus begins another chapter in the history of this crime and its subsequent incidents—a crime which has attracted the entire State of Florida, on account of the prominence of the murdered man, the manner in which his life was taken from the result of a deadly gun fired from the dark, and the prominence which was given to all the proceedings following the arrest of Kelley and Davidson.

This story has been repeated through the columns of the State press so often that there is doubtless no person of readable age, especially in this section, who has not become thoroughly acquainted with the facts. A brief review of the case may be made, however, as follows:

Chapter I.

Late in the summer of 1906, Special Officer Sellars of Tampa was sent to High Springs by the Atlantic Coast Line to ferret out, if possible, a system of wholesale stealing of goods from the box cars in the High Springs yards. Sellars was on duty only a few hours, when he was assaulted from a dark and secreted spot by some person or persons, who used a shotgun as the deadly weapon which ended the unfortunate officer's life so abruptly. The tragedy caused a great deal of excitement at the time, and it was about a year afterwards that Kelley was arrested charged with the murder, in Jacksonville, and brought to jail in this city.

Chapter II.

At the next session of the grand jury of Alachua county an indictment was returned against D. M. Davidson connecting him with the crime. Upon learning of this indictment Davidson, who was in High Springs, started to Gainesville, he alleged on the witness stand at the hearing, to surrender, but was intercepted at Paradise, five miles north of Gainesville, by an officer, who placed him under arrest. He was also brought to Gainesville and placed in prison, where he remained with Kelley until the trial in Palatka, a change of venue having been granted and the case transferred to Putnam county.

Chapter III.

In the spring of the present year, at a special term called for the purpose, Kelley and Davidson were arraigned, and after a brilliant legal battle on both sides lasting about a week, both defendants were found guilty, and recommended to the mercy of the court, and were sentenced to life-imprisonment at hard labor, when an appeal was taken, after the court had refused to grant the motion for a new trial. At the time of the sentence, Kelley made a statement to the effect that Davidson was innocent of any connection with the crime, and afterwards made affidavit in prison to the same effect.

Chapter IV.

While the men were in prison awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court in their case, they attempted to escape, securing a number of small saws and other tools, which were smuggled into jail in a package of laundry by a negro woman. This incident occurred after Kelley's affidavit, but it is understood that he exonerated Davidson of any attempt to escape.

Chapter V.

Nothing further of note occurred until Kelley, probably feeling that his actions would have an adverse effect in his case for appeal, withdrew his request and decided to begin his life sentence, with the result that he was taken to the camp.

Davidson is still in the Putnam county prison, pending the decision of the Supreme Court in his case.

Another interesting event in the history of this case, which furnished a tinge of romance, was the marriage of Davidson to a Waycross girl, the ceremony being performed in prison after the man had been found guilty and sentenced for life.

BROWN—BROWN.

A most beautiful marriage was witnessed by friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown, at 3 o'clock Thursday evening, Nov. 11th, when their daughter, Miss Mary Matilda Brown, was given in marriage to Mr. Henry F. Brown of Tampa, Fla., Rev. W. Colson officiating.

The groom was dressed in a nice suit of blue, while the bride was gowned beautifully in white.

The bride is well-known and popular, having been raised here, and has many friends who regret to lose her, while the groom is a popular young man of Tampa, where he holds a position.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were to leave Friday for their future home at Tampa, but were delayed on account of the sad illness of the bride's little sister.

May their lives be ever blessed with friends selected from the best.

A FRIEND.

Lottieville, Fla., Nov. 13, 1909.

Western Union Telegraph Co. Goes Into New Hands

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The control of the Western Union Telegraph Company passed yesterday to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and a long step was taken toward the merging of the telephone and telegraph companies into a corporation with a capitalization of nearly $1,000,000,000.

The announcement of the acquisition of the Western Union, known as the Gould property, by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, came from Boston. The acquisition of the Western Union and the recent absorption of district Bell Telephone companies in various parts of the country indicates that a large increase will be made in the present capitalization of the present company, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

PICKETT MADE GOOD ON BIG COTTON DEAL

DISPOSED OF SEASON'S HOLDING TO SAVANNAH PARTIES.

The Lot Consisted of 223 Bales and Good Prices Prevailed, Aggregating $22,000.

A cotton deal involving two hundred and twenty-three bales of long staple and $22,000 in cold cash was the good fortune of the Newberry section Tuesday, when H. A. Pickett, one of the most extensive planters and buyers in the county, released his entire holdings in a round sum, aggregating the above amount.

The staple is all of the present year's production, as Mr. Pickett disposed of all his holdings last season, and began buying in August of the present year.

The staple, which was purchased by a Savannah firm, was of good average quality. Mr. Pickett did not state the price paid per pound, but gave as the aggregate amount $22,000.

This deal is the largest consummated in the county by any one holder this season, and the second largest of any sale, the first sale being a deal in Alachua where a number of growers disposed of their holdings in a lump. This sale constituted about 500 bales, and commanded a fair price. The lot was also purchased by Savannah parties.

Friends of Mr. Pickett extend congratulations upon the successful consummation of this sale at the price received.

GRAND MASTER SELF.

Distinguished Official Paid Center Lodge, I. O. O. F., a Visit.

Monday night marked a pleasant occasion among the members of Center Lodge No. 11, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the local lodge having been favored with an official visit from Grand Master, Rev. Geo. D. Self, of DeLand.

Mr. Self's coming having been announced in advance, he was greeted by a good attendance, and the meeting passed off in a most pleasant and impressive manner.

When the lodge had been formally opened by Noble Grand W. P. Mosley, the visitor was presented, and delivered a most interesting address, in which he dwelt with great fervor upon the charitable work done by the order, and the good and brotherly feeling which prevailed in the rank of Odd Fellowship. He stated that this order performed more acts of charity than all other fraternities combined.

At the conclusion of Grand Master Self's address, those present participated in a smoker, when several informal talks for the good of the order were made.

Gainesville's Steeplejack.

Few people in Gainesville realize that this city can boast of a real, live and fearless "steeplejack," in the person of Geo. H. Sherman, who has probably attained a higher point than any painter in this section of the State.

The matter of painting steeples and tall smoke stacks is a risky proposition, as it endangers the life of any man who undertakes the job. It requires nerve to scale these objects, but Mr. Sherman is possessed of that quality of nerve which has caused him to ascend many a lofty point when others felt a delicacy in tackling the job.

Mr. Sherman has just completed the work of painting the two big smoke stacks at the uptown factory of the Diamond Ice Company. These stacks are one hundred feet high, and the painter while at work at the top, resembled, in proportion, a fly on the end of a walking stick.

This Action Taken to Prevent Untoward Demonstration When Bodies Are Recovered.

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 17.—Two companies of militia from Galesburg and one from Kewannee, under command of Col. Dickson, have been ordered here.

The troops were called for to prevent any untoward demonstration at the St. Paul coal mine when the bodies of the 300 men entombed by last Saturday's disaster are brought to the surface. Sheriff Skoglund of Bureau county telegraphed to Springfield asking Governor Deneen to send several companies of militia.

So far there has been no violence and it is hoped by the presence of a small guard to prevent any ill-advised move on the part of the miners, whose feelings have been wrought up by the loss of their comrades.

When the entombed men, or more likely their bodies, will be brought to the surface is doubtful. None of the officers believe that any of the 300 men are alive, but nothing more is now actually known about their fate than was known the day of the accident.

Fire Makes Mine Inferno.

Fire in the mine yesterday was even more intense than it was when the men were entrapped and no efforts could be made to enter the shaft.

Fire Chief Horan of Chicago has arrived with assistance and a supply of hose and chemical fire extinguishers. The seal over the mouth of the shaft was perforated and it was intended to force water and chemicals down through pipes. A thermometer plunged into the sand scattered on top of the seal showed a temperature of 119 degrees, indicating that the heat in the interior of the mine must have been intense.

"It's no use," said Chief Horan. "To lift the lid today would mean that the whole mine would blaze up and there would be no possibility of recovering even the bodies. The coal deposits would take fire and the timber supports would crumble."

George S. Rice of Pittsburg, chief of the field work of the United States Geological Survey, also was positive that the reopening of the mine would have to be postponed.

The only progress made yesterday was in organizing relief work for the many destitute remnants of families.

In making the rounds of the miners' homes, Duncan McDonald, president of District No. 12, United Mine Workers, yesterday discovered that eighty-six of the homes visited were, with the exception of small children, without males.

Only the most frantic of the women who lost husbands ventured to visit the shaft yesterday and these had to be almost forcibly taken back. Frequently a puff of smoke issued from a crevice in the cover over the shaft. This was taken as an evidence of the fire raging within. It was cold enough outside, an icy wind sweeping over the prairies and whistling mournfully through the superstructure of the mine.

No Hope for 300 Men.

Funerals of eight of the miners who were killed Saturday were held yesterday. Two of these died while engaged in rescue work. Several of the miners on duty at the shaft left their work to follow the processions to the cemetery and then hurried back to help at the mine.

The opinion was expressed last night by Mine Manager Taylor that the men in the mine died soon after the fire started on Saturday. Taylor has repeatedly risked his life to go into the mine and Monday he was all but lost when he wandered 200 feet from the main shaft and returned just in time to see the rekindled flames eating their way toward the main cage, his only means of escape.

"The men in the mine are dead," said Taylor last night. "They cannot be alive. Under any process of scientific reasoning there can exist no ground for hope that a single soul could have been found alive an hour after the first fire. To make these poor people think that when the mine is opened their loved ones will be found in some remote portion of the mine is cruel."

Six Men Entombed When Earth Caved In

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 17.—Six workmen were killed and a number of others barely escaped death when 4,000 cubic feet of earth caved in and entombed a construction force engaged in building a concrete viaduct at Salem creek, south of this place, on the South-bound railroad at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The dead:

Lesso Freasland, Carnal Bulling, Carl Dortschmidt, Liebbman Lippner, Alfred Lippner.

The last named four are Germans, who recently came here from New York.

Oscar Mix of Norfolk, Va., was slightly injured.

The men were at work on the foundation for the trestle abutment when the earth, towering thirty feet above, suddenly caved, burying them beneath the heavy load. Rescue work was immediately begun when a second caving occurred, catching a number of the rescuing party.

These latter, however, were soon brought to the surface. The first body was recovered about thirty minutes and the last about two hours of the occurrence of the catastrophe. The men died of suffocation, not one of the bodies being in the least mutilated. The coroner will conduct an investigation.

ELECTION AT HAWTHORN.

Was Held Tuesday to Determine for a Sub-Road District, Etc.

With a desire to create a sub-road district for the Hawthorn section, together to determine a millage and elect three road trustees, the people of the Hawthorn section held an election Tuesday, the result of which has not yet been received here, although it is safe to say that the election carried in favor of creating a district.

The people of Hawthorn and vicinity have become thoroughly aroused over the matter of good roads, as they are anxious to keep apace with other sections of the State and county, and in this they have the hearty co-operation of the Board of County Commissioners and citizens generally.

CAPT. BAKER SHOOTS MAN IN SELF-DEFENSE

HOBO HAD DELIBERATELY FIRED HIS PISTOL AT HIM.

Kindhearted Senator From Sumter Spared Life of His Assailant Under Trying Circumstances.

Early Sunday morning Captain D. H. Baker of Orange Home, in order to protect his own life, was forced to shoot a man at his place. Captain Baker regrets the occurrence very much, but under the circumstances it was unavoidable.

The facts in the case, as learned by a Times man from a reliable source, are about as follows:

For about ten days some person or persons have been depredating in various ways around Capt. Baker's place. They would go into the grove and take oranges out on the railroad, eat what they wanted and leave a dozen or more scattered around; would also enter the barn where peanuts were stored, and pick the nuts off the vines. On Sunday morning a man working for Capt. Baker reported that he saw a man come from the barn. He went up to the pump, got a drink of water, washed and walked very brazenly out at the front gate, as though he was perfectly familiar with the premises, eating peanuts as he went. It being Sunday, and the Captain not wishing to have any trouble, did not molest him. The man then went up the railroad and entered the grove, climbing the fence. Capt. Baker then picked up his gun for protection and went to the grove, and when he got to the grove gate the man came out over the fence and stopped by a pine tree by the side of the road. Capt. Baker stepped into the road and said: "Well, sir, someone has been stealing oranges here for some time, and I guess I have found the man." They stood in the road and parleyed for a few moments, and then the Captain told him that he would have to detain him until he could 'phone to Wildwood for a deputy sheriff and would have to hold him until the next day, (as this was Sunday), then give him a hearing. He kept by the tree, and Capt. Baker told him to "move on down the road towards the house, as I am going to turn you over to the sheriff."

At this instant he fired at Captain Baker at range of about ten feet with a 38-calibre revolver. He was so quick about it Capt. Baker did not have time to take his gun off his shoulder. Capt. Baker then stepped back two or three steps, and said: "Don't shoot any more; don't shoot any more." He raised his revolver and took rest against the tree to shoot again. As he did this Capt. Baker shot at the man's pistol. Capt. Baker said that he did not see the man, as he was watching the pistol, and felt that his only chance was to put that out of business. He cut the bark from the tree and put one shot in the cylinder of the man's revolver, who was behind the tree all the time. He still made further effort to shoot.

The Captain called to him to put his pistol down or he would shoot him, not knowing he had already hit him. After repeated efforts he found that his pistol would not work, and said: "You have already shot me; you have broken my arm," and dropped his pistol.

Capt. Baker said: "I did all I could to keep from shooting, and after he took one fair shot and missed his mark, he was in no danger whatever until he raised his gun, took a rest against the side of the tree to make doubly sure of the next shot, I thought then it my duty to protect myself."

The man was tramping through the country and had about sixty dollars on his person. He first gave his name as Brown, then Lindsay. He was shot in the breast and his arm was broken, but from last accounts was resting easy, and will probably recover.—Sumter County Times.

Capt. Baker is State Senator from Marion and Sumter counties and owns a fine orange grove at Orange Home, Sumter county, where he lives. He was a member of the board of trustees of the old East Florida Seminary, and is well known in Gainesville. He is a native of Kentucky and represented his county in the Legislature of that State when a very young man. There is not a better man in all Florida, and those who know him will unhesitatingly take his word as to how the affair occurred.

OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but got no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. EMMA WHEATON, Vienna, W. Va.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Mr. Beach Had a Hunt.

Deputy Sheriff J. A. Beach of Trenton was in the city Monday.

Deputy Beach stated that he was among a party of hunters from his section last week that went to LaFayette county, and camped in the wilds. The party was very successful in killing deer and turkey, and among other wild game he killed three bear (approximated) and other game, which they considered a fine report.

The party comprised W. F. Beach, J. M. Love, J. H. Osteen, T. M. Griffin and Milt and Chapel Ellis of Fort White.

Everything passed off quietly. There was plenty of wild game and good sport, and everybody seemed to be well pleased.

Mr. Beach is always the fellow to "admit things" when it comes to shooting, and he decided with everyone that the hunt was "just exactly" as they counted it, only he thought he should have had one more deer.

EDUCATORS TO HAVE A BIG CONVENTION

ALL TEACHERS OF COUNTY WILL MEET IN GAINESVILLE.

Many Issues of Importance Will Be Discussed, Among Which Will Be Mode of Teaching Agriculture.

With a view to giving the children of Alachua county the best service possible for the educational enlightenment in the public schools, the Board of Public Instruction at its last regular meeting directed that a teachers' institute, for white teachers, be held for Thursday night and Friday, the 25th and 26th inst., and inasmuch as there will no doubt be a large attendance there will no doubt result a great deal of good from this convention.

Through the careful study of Superintendent J. L. Kelley, in connection with members of the school board, patrons this year are blessed with the finest and most efficient corps of educators the county has ever had, not only in the larger and higher grade schools, but in institutions of all classes. After a thorough investigation of each individual application for position as teacher, the result has been that none but competent instructors, according to grade, have been employed.

Dr. Kelley's Order.

In accordance with instructions of the school board, Dr. J. L. Kelley, Superintendent of Public Instruction, has issued the following order, a copy of which will be forwarded to every white teacher in the county:

"The Board of Public Instruction, at their last meeting, ordered me to hold a Teachers' Institute in this city, beginning November 25th at 8 p. m., and closing Friday night. You will therefore close your school at the usual time on Wednesday, 24th, and reopen on Monday, the 29th. Do not fail to obey this order. No white school must be run these two days, and if anyone do so they will not be paid for the same. All who attend the Institute will be paid for full time, and in reporting these days, record the average attendance for Wednesday for Thursday and Friday.

"I am instructed by the board to order every white teacher in Alachua county to be present at the first session of the Institute on Thursday evening. I hope you will cheerfully comply with this order, just as much as you would any other order given. Do not ask to be excused, as no excuse will be accepted, unless it be for Providential hindrance.

"It is vitally important for many reasons that all attend. Many subjects will be discussed, chiefly as to how agriculture will be taught in the schools, as well as many other live issues, and exchange of opinion will be very beneficial."

ECZEMA FROM HEAD TO FOOT

For Six Months his Suffering was Beyond Words—One Mass of Irritation and Itching was Dreadful—Slept Only from Sheer Exhaustion—Almost Out of His Mind—After 24 Hours' Use of Cuticura Slept Like an Infant and Then was

CURED IN ONE MONTH BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am seventy-seven years old and one day, some years ago, I fell from a step-ladder, bruising my heel. In a few days I could not walk I called in a doctor and inside of a week erysipelas set in. The doctor had not cured me of that when I was taken with eczema from head to foot. I was sick for six months and what I suffered tongue could not tell. I could not sleep day or night because of that dreadful itching; when I did sleep it was from sheer exhaustion. I was one mass of irritation: it was even in my scalp. The doctor's medicine seemed to make me worse and I was almost out of my mind. I read of Cuticura and sent my wife to the druggist, who was a member of my lodge of Odd Fellows, for a set of the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent. I used them persistently for twenty-four hours. That night I slept like an infant, the first solid night's sleep I had had for six months. I was not afraid to use plenty of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap with hot water and in a week's time I was able to put on my clothes again. In a month I was cured. From that day to this I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too highly. I may add that I have a very heavy head of hair which I owe to Cuticura. W. Harrison Smith, R.F.D. 2, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., Feb. 3, '08."

A single set of the Cuticura Remedies is often sufficient for the treatment of the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning and scaly humors, eczemas, rashes and irritations, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, when all other remedies fail. Guaranteed absolutely pure and may be used from the hour of birth.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA -WON OVER ROLLINS

DEFEATED COLLEGE BOYS BY THE SCORE OF 28 TO 3.

Game Was Called on Account of Darkness, But Florida Had Points to Spare Anyway.

From Tuesday's Daily Sun:

Florida won out in the gridiron contest with Rollins College at Orlando Monday afternoon, and the students who "remained at home" were the happiest folk in town if the demonstration they waged for about an hour last night counts as evidence in this direction.

The Sun received the following dispatch regarding the game from Coach G. E. Pile:

"Florida 28, Rollins 3. Florida fumbled ball on the kick-off and Rollins made a field goal, and at end of first half score was Florida 11, Rollins 3—twenty-five minutes' play. Taylor run 45 and 75 yards for touchdowns in first half.

"In second half—10 minutes—Taylor made 60-yard run, Adgerton 30 yards and McCormick 80 yards, assisted by Moody's fine interference. Two touchdowns were made from forward passes.

"The game was called on account of darkness. Stetson team attended game in full. The crowd were all for Florida."

CITIZENS HOT AFTER ATLANTIC COAST LINE

BUSINESS MEN CAN'T BE IGNORED WITHOUT AN EXCUSE.

New Schedule Annulled Four Most Important Trains, With Result That Commission Acts.

From Tuesday's Daily Sun:

There is an old adage that when a man wants a thing bad enough, and wants it long enough, he is bound to get it, or something to that effect.

And this applies very aptly to the business men and citizens generally of Gainesville. They wanted and wanted and wanted, for a long time, a decent and convenient schedule which officials of the Atlantic Coast Line evidently had it in their power to give, and patience almost ceased to be a virtue when, it is to be judged by the constant appeal of our people and the sympathetic influence of the local division officials of the Atlantic Coast Line at this point, the citizens of Gainesville did finally get what they wanted, which was nothing more than a reasonably convenient schedule for our country neighbors to come to town, spend the day, transact their business and sleep in their own beds the same night.

Cut the Schedule Off.

This schedule, which enabled those having business here, to come to Gainesville from either direction, transact their business and return the same day to their homes, was inaugurated, and it worked beautifully to the satisfaction of all; but it seems that the tourist trade had to be looked after, and the last schedule card showed the annulment of the most important trains to and from Gainesville, those of Nos. 9 and 10, between Ocala and Jacksonville, and Nos. 138 and 139, running between Wilcox, in the West End, and Micanopy and Citra, via Gainesville, and that was where the trouble started.

The Citizens Got Busy.

Upon learning that the change of schedule meant the annulment of these important trains, the people of Gainesville began to "get busy" with the result that a meeting of the Board of Trade and citizens was held Thursday for the purpose of making a protest with the annulment of these trains, which not only sapped the commercial blood out of this city, but was destined to prove most disadvantageous to those who had been accustomed to making a round trip a day from their homes to the county capital, with little inconvenience and no delay.

As a result of this meeting a committee was appointed to confer with the Railroad Commission in the matter. This committee comprised three of Gainesville's most influential citizens, Messrs. W. R. Thomas, W. B Taylor and Henry S. Chubb, and the committee sent as spokesman Mr. Taylor, who left immediately for Tallahassee to lay the grievances of the meeting before the proper tribunal.

Mr. Taylor, who is always awake to the interests of those whom he represents, performed his work effectively, as he lost no time in presenting to the members of the Railroad Commission whom he found at home the true state of affairs.

In a letter to Messrs. Thomas and Chubb, who constitute the remainder of the committee, Mr. Taylor says:

"I met Railroad Commissioners Mitch and Dunn last Saturday morning. I pointed out to them that the withdrawal of trains No. 138 and 139 absolutely debarred residents of the western part of this county from visiting this, the county site, transacting the usual business and returning the same day.

"In fact, it developed upon perusal of the schedule that a citizen of Newberry visiting Gainesville spent something over four hours in the woods at Burnett's Lake, about an hour and a half here, and an intermediate wait again at Burnett's Lake in order to get back home during the same calendar day.

"I made an especial effort to acquaint the commissioners with the total disregard of the convenience of the railroad patrons developed through the new schedule, No. 5, and had the assurance of the commissioners that they would take immediate and vigorous means to have trains 138 and 139 put back on their runs.

"The procedure is to endeavor to do this without the necessity of a formal order and a public hearing. If the Coast Line officials decline, the commission will immediately call for a hearing and, if we can show the things that I claimed, the railroad company will then be ordered to put the trains back.

"I am frank to say that I believe if the trains are not reinstated at once, that they will be within two or three months, and never again will that schedule be interfered with without giving us something just as good.

"Commissioner Burr is on the State's business at Louisville, Ky.

"The expenses incurred were $16.25. I am very truly yours,

"W. B. TAYLOR."

MacArthur Knows Nothing.

It was rumored Monday that the Railroad Commission had wired General Superintendent Riddle of the Atlantic Coast Line at Jacksonville instructing him to continue the service of Train 138 and Train 139, between Wilcox and Citra, but Division Superintendent MacArthur stated to a Sun representative late on Monday afternoon that he had received no instructions. Inasmuch as these trains are operated on Superintendent MacArthur's division, there was evidently no foundation to this rumor.

While Trains 9 and 10 between Ocala and Jacksonville are of great benefit, the Wilcox-Citra train had become to be an absolute necessity for the accommodation of those of the West End who desired to spend a day in Gainesville and return home by night.

A few days ago as the steamer Suwannee of Fort Myers was coming up Orange river loaded with oranges, it was noticed that she was too heavily laden, and in all probability would sink unless something was done. The Thomas A. Edison, which was passing just at that time, went to her assistance, and just as the ropes were made fast the Suwannee went down, carrying about 989 boxes of oranges with her.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Mrs. J. Patton Anderson Fractures Her Hip.

Mrs. J. Patton Anderson, one of Palatka's best loved ladies and whose name is honored in all parts of Florida, was the victim of a serious and painful accident last Monday evening at her home in this city.

Mrs. Anderson went to sit down in a chair that usually stands in one place. The chair had been moved slightly and she fell, fracturing her left hip joint.

The fracture is a most serious one, and doubly so because of Mrs. Anderson's advanced age, and the difficulty in getting at the fracture to set and old in place.

Dr. Geo. E. Welch is attending the case and giving it his most devoted care. Mrs. Anderson, though suffering greatly, has maintained a cheerfulness that is surprising.

Mrs. Anderson is the widow of Major-General J. Patton Anderson of the Confederate army, and one of Florida's most noted heroes in the war between the States.

She is the honorary president of the U. D. C. of Florida, and president of Patton Anderson Chapter of this city. Grief over her misfortune will be felt in all parts of the Southland.—Palatka News.

Congressman Ollie James of Kentucky, of whom Frank Clark made such a facetious picture in his speech before the last Legislature, recently found a fifteen hundred dollar pearl in a raw oyster. The witty Florida Congressman probably looks upon this as casting pearls to the swine.

Just as we expected. Some of the commission merchants of the East are doing everything they can to belittle the Florida Fruit Exchange. Such an organization proved the salvation of the California fruit growers, however; and it will do the same thing for the Florida growers if they stand by it.

The man who is constantly looking for an easy position and the man who does as little as he can for the wages he receives will never make a success of life. The man who is in the line for promotion and a successful career is he who does not watch the clock for leaving off time, but who puts his conscience into his work and seek the interest of his employer.

The conflict between the British Lords and Commons over the budget has advanced another stage. By the tremendous majority of 239, which showed an unbroken front on the part of the Liberals, the budget passed its third reading and now goes to the Lords. What they will do with it is uncertain. Probably the Lords themselves have not yet decided. That they would like to reject it everybody knows, but they are aware of the crisis such action would precipitate—a crisis that would likely result in a radical change of the constitution of the House itself. As the Lords have recently intensified public hostility by practically destroying the Irish land act, they may well hesitate as to their final action.

Congressman Frank Clark went down to Miami with a chip on his shoulder last week and no one had the temerity to attempt to knock it off—not until after the meeting was over and Clark had left town. The opposition to Clark comes from Bryan Democrats. Clark refuses longer to follow the lead of the thrice defeated Nebraskan. And there are others—millions of 'em. Then there is a difference between Clark's interpretation of the Democratic tariff platform and the interpretation put upon that dubious document by the able editor of The Miami Metropolis. Clark takes the Gen. Hancock view, that "the tariff is a local issue," and his course in Congress has been to secure for his constituents every advantage he could under the prevailing policy of the Government, rather than make academic howls to the gallery in advocacy of the tenets of Bryan. There is no doubting Mr. Clark's democracy and The Metropolis and "Jim" Alexander will find they have undertaken a big job in their attempts to read him out of the party—especially in view of the present uncertainty as to what constitutes a Democrat in Florida.—Palatka News.

EVILS NOT CONFINED TO THE SOUTH.

Most of the newspapers that have commented upon the Cairo riot and lynching failed to point out that the lynching of negroes isn't confined to the South, says The Savannah News. Many of the newspapers of the North seem to take pleasure in conveying the impression, whenever a negro is lynched in the South, that only in this section of the country is a negro ever the victim of mob law. We do not assert that they do this deliberately. It is probable that they really believe that because the South is virtually the home of the negro, and also because there are perhaps more negroes lynched in the South than in other parts of the country, it is only in the South that negroes are lynched. They should keep track of the lynchings, so as not to mislead their readers.

It is probable that there are as many negroes lynched in the North in proportion to the negro population there as there are in the South. And some of the most brutal and savage of these lynchings have been in that section. The riot at Cairo was a particularly bloodthirsty one. After killing and burning the negro criminal the mob sought a white prisoner, charged with murdering his wife—a prisoner who protested his innocence to the last—and lynched him. While we have had some savage negro lynchings here in the South we have had none that exceeded in barbarity the lynching at Wilmington, Del., and the race riot at Springfield, O.

It isn't our purpose to excuse the occasional lynchings in the South by referring to those in the North. We mention them simply to impress upon the public mind that a negro stands no better chance to escape mob violence in the North when he has provoked the mob spirit by his crimes than he does in the South. All lynchings are to be condemned in the strongest terms, not only because they tend to break down the barriers which protect society, but also because innocent men are likely to become the victims of a mob. We have courts and the punishment of criminals should be left to them.

And in this connection we desire to call attention to other evils which the Northern press seems to be disposed to saddle upon the South. When Mr. Rockefeller announced a gift of $1,000,000 with which to fight the hookworm disease the Northern papers called it the lazy disease, and immediately set about creating the impression that it was confined to the South. Even when the talk of pellagra began readers of the Northern papers could hardly help getting the impression that it was a disease of the South.

Now it is appearing that the hookworm disease is widespread and it is known that there is about as much pellagra in the North as there is in the South. The South has her share of all of these evils, but not more than her share, and it is unjust to her to create, through carelessness or otherwise, the impression that she has more of these evils to contend with than any other section of the country. All the South asks is a square deal. If given that she will be able to take care of herself.

IN BEHALF OF JUDGE J. B. WALL.

Opposition to the re-election of the above-named able jurist having cropped out in his circuit, The Pasco County Progress takes up the cudgel for him in the following manner:

"Hysterical instead of sympathetic reform is always dangerous, in truth it is not reform at all, it is destructive change. Any effort to defeat Hon. J. B. Wall, a capable and thoroughly tried official, who has adorned the bench and conserved justice, if successful, would be unfortunate. We have ever been persistent in our advocacy of the principle that a man who had served the people well should be retained in office, particularly where the office is that of circuit judge. It is an imperative necessity, where special knowledge and familiarity with special duties are necessary to insure their proper performance and where it is more important that the public interests be well served by competent experts rather than by those seeking official place. It is the essence of good government to establish and maintain these principles, and it is passing strange that people should ever be asked to undo the best work of the reformers of the past. There is but little hope of permanent good if the fast land secured after years of effort is to be washed away by a flood of uncontrolled and misguided sentiment.

"Judge Wall has conducted his office free from the control or dictation of any man or set of men. He has no master but the law and his conscience. He has administered equal justice to all regardless of their condition. Under his administration the guilty have feared trial and the innocent were sure they would get justice.

"The very path of good government in administrative features consists quite as much in an accurate knowledge of the powers and duties of public officers by the incumbent, as a judicious, intelligent and fearless exercise of them. In fact, without the former the latter is not possible. Judge Wall has done his whole duty, and the best evidence of his ability and fidelity is that during the whole of his service there has not been an honest word of criticism by people or press. He has received the endorsement of the bar. They know best the duties of the office. They know best how the duties have been performed."

The above article is equally applicable to the entire judiciary of the State, including members of the supreme court.

Does Not Stimulate

Ayer's Sarsaparilla does not stimulate. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. It is not a strong drink. No reaction after you stop using it. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. You have the steady, even gain that comes from a strong tonic and alterative. We wish you would ask your doctor about this. He knows. Trust him. Do as he says. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

What are Ayer's Pills? Liver Pills. How long have they been sold? Nearly sixty years. Do doctors recommend them? Ask your own doctor and find out.

FINDING WORK.

Some people are too easily discouraged. We are reminded of that by the recent case of a young married couple in Chicago who tried to commit suicide because they found no work. Their case excited much sympathy, for there is a good deal of the "milk of human kindness" in the world and it is always generously given to those who meet with misfortune.

The experience of this young couple conveys its lessons which other young people may well take to heart. Like too many others, this couple went to a large city probably in the belief that work there was plentiful and wages high. But in almost any business, for the majority of people seeking work, a large city is about the worst possible place, because of the super-abundance of labor. There are a few good prizes, but for every prize there are numerous blanks. Wages in smaller towns are lower than in a large city, but so is living, and there is not the competition born of an over supply of labor.

We do not know how it was in the case referred to, but with some people out of work there is a foolish pride which makes them refuse employment in any calling but that to which they have been bred. Sooner than do that they would rather starve or live on the charity of others.

For anyone willing and able to work employment can usually be found in this country at the present time. It may not always be the kind of work one would choose, but better take what one can, if it is honest, than be idle and live at the expense of others. Under no circumstances should anyone young and robust lose heart because sometimes he comes up against difficulties and hardships.

A correspondent of The Gainesville Sun makes an eloquent plea for a beautiful French girl named Marie, living with her family on a Suwannee river plantation in early days, as the author of the famous song, "Old Folks at Home," beginning with the immortal line, "'Way Down Upon the S'wannee Ribber." We wish it were true that Marie or some other sweet Florida girl had written this exquisite ballad whose soft, plaintive music deserves to live forever, but facts respect neither sentiment nor romance, and it has been fully established that Stephen Collins Foster, author of "My Old Kentucky Home" and other popular songs, was also the composer of "Old Folks at Home." And, worst of all, he never saw the Suwannee river, and selected the name because of its melody and adaptability to the metre and sentiment of his song.—Live Oak Democrat.

RAILROADS AS FOOTPATHS.

Speaking of the deaths resulting from persons using railroad tracks as footpaths, H. H. Windsor in The December Popular Mechanics says:

"Familiarity with danger induces a disregard of danger. The student who is unable to look down from a three-story building without being dizzy, becomes a mountain climber who delights in perilous positions, where a misstep means death in the chasm a half-mile deep. The naturalist who at first shuddered at the picture of a snake learns to take the most deadly serpents in his hands, while discoursing on the beauty of their head and eyes. Another, who as a child was terrified at a Fourth of July firecracker, hums a merry tune as he stirs a pan of nitroglycerin in the making. One who has grown to manhood without ever seeing a locomotive is overwhelmed with terror upon beholding one in motion for the first time.

"Our land has become such a network of railways bearing trains which dart back and forth at all hours that the people have become careless and use the tracks as a convenient and usually the shortest footpath. This practice is responsible for 47,416 deaths during the past ten years, an average of thirteen every day. Should thirteen persons be killed in a single railway accident our papers would devote front page columns to the event, while newspaper photographers filled other columns with pictures of the wreck and victims. And the number is rapidly increasing, due partly to more dense population and partly to the increasing disregard of danger. For instance, on the Pennsylvania system 781 were killed in 1904 in this manner, while the record for 1907 shows 915, or nearly three a day. * * * It is understood the railroads are uniting for a vigorous campaign to secure the enforcement of the present State laws against walking on their tracks, but an equally desirable improvement would be State legislation eliminating the grade crossing, or at least greatly reducing the number, and requiring bridges wherever the track is not clearly seen in each direction from the highway."

GOOD NEWS FOR FLORIDA.

In a recent issue of The Reporter-Star of Orlando, Fla., the editor, in speaking of the lecture on "Tuberculosis" that was delivered at the Seventh-day Adventist State camp-meeting by Dr. M. M. Martinson, medical superintendent of the Florida Sanitarium, local reference to which was made in the same issue, said:

"At the conclusion of the lecture last night at the camp grounds, by Dr. M. M. Martinson, Elder R. W. Parmele, president of the Florida Sanitarium Benevolent Association, stated that the Florida Sanitarium is owned by the above mentioned association, which is an organization not for profit, as not one penny of the dividends arising from its operation goes to any private individual. The whole net earnings are to be employed in giving public instruction on health and hygiene, and the lecture last night was only one of many that will be given throughout the State of Florida upon this and similar important themes. These humble workers, not only for the cause of Christ but for humanity at large, deserve great credit for the work already accomplished, and should be encouraged in every way by all those who have the welfare of their neighbors at heart."

This is certainly a very commendable movement on the part of the Florida Sanitarium, and great good is expected to come to the people of the State as a result. The Seventh-day Adventists have eighty large sanitariums in operation the world over, all of which are doing a similar business.

Some people are so set in their opinions and so officious that they set up their own standard of ethics and expect everything to accept it.

WORK THAT TAKES STOUT HEARTS.

Belmore Browne, writing in Collier's Weekly of one of the Cook expeditions to the region of Mt. McKinley, thus tells the story of the hardships to which the men were subjected:

"We made our first exploring trip for a pass on foot. We followed the valley of the Yentna directly into the Alaskan range.

"We were fording glacial rivers constantly and our clothes were never dry. The glacial sand would go through the thickest wool clothing and wore the skin from our bodies. We were 'rolled' often in the swift rapids, and our hands and knees were torn by the jagged rocks. Our faces were swollen from the attacks of the mosquito hordes.

"We traveled at night through the weird blue light of the snow fields, for when the northern sun touched the ice and snow the rivers roared like chained beasts and rose above their banks.

"When our food was nearly gone we found a pass.

"After the horses came we could no longer hug the rough mountain sides, but were forced into the open valleys. When, through sheets of cold rain, a river barred our path, we were forced to swim, no matter what its breadth or swiftness.

"Our horses were loaded with all they could carry, and in the fords we simply held on and took what came. In this pack-horse swimming Professors Parker and Porter were so close to death in a watery grave that the rest of us gave up hope, as still 'the worst was yet to come.'

"We were stopped at last by the frowning walls of the Yentna canon. Dr. Cook, Fred Printz, Ed Barrill and I took the four strongest horses and made a reconnaissance. The party divided at a fork one mile up the gorge, two of us going each way. In the afternoon the glaciers became great fountains of running water, and not one of us was able to reach camp by the canon route. The river at this was full of powdered ice from the glaciers above, and men and horses were helpless from the chill of the waters. The legs of our horses were so cut from the sharp rocks that they left a dark trail of blood on the canon floor. While trying to reach camp late in the evening, Barrill's horse was rolled in a whirlpool, Barrill holding helplessly to the mountain pack-saddle. At times I could see neither horse nor rider. Once on top of a swell, the horse's feet appeared lashing the white water. I never expected to see Barrill again, but he landed, numb with the cold, on a bar below, but his horse was played out, and they were forced to remain in the canon all night. I returned to camp on foot across the canon walls. On reaching camp I found that Dr. Cook and Printz had had the same experience that I had, and that the Doctor had nearly lost his life in a rapid."

Now, one is inclined to ask, could men who could brave such dangers and endure such untold suffering when they did not have to, be common liars? It is hard to think so, but Barrill has lied one way or another. When he accompanied Cook on his last expedition he wrote a diary telling how the ascent to the top had been made, and a few weeks ago he sold an affidavit saying the diary had been faked. Barrill is not necessarily a liar, by choice, and so says Dr. Cook is one.

T. L. Boulware, who resides in Southeast Gainesville, has this year demonstrated what can be done in growing forage crops in Alachua county. During the month of July he harvested a ton of German millet from an acre of ground on his place, and in August planted the land in Spanish peanuts, which he is now gathering at the rate of 228 bushels to the acre, a single hill in many instances producing a pint of absolutely perfect nuts. Millet and peanuts are among the best of all stock feeds, and the fine condition of Mr. Boulware's mules shows how they thrive upon such feed. This is evidence of what can be done in Florida.

There is not much hope of the man who is so ignorant that he does not realize his ignorance. But of the man who knows he is ignorant and who seeks to get away from that condition there is every hope. With some people the trouble is that they are ashamed to learn, therefore they remain destitute of knowledge.

GED SHERIFF BRAVELY HEARS COURT'S SENTENCE

mer Tennessee Official Declared in Contempt of Supreme Court Must Serve 90 Days.

ASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 16.—the first time in American his- six men were in prison last t for contempt of the Supreme t of the United States. For the time, too, the Federal govern- has placed men behind the bars n outcome of the lynching of a ro.

the United States jail in this Capt. Joseph F. Shipp, former iff at Chattanooga, Tenn.; Jere- Gibson, his jailer, and Luther iams, Nick Nolan, Henry Padgett William Mayers of the same city, erday afternoon began serving e of imprisonment imposed a few rs before by the Supreme Court he United States.

hipp and Gibson had been found ty of failing to protect from a Ed Johnson, whose legal execu- for rape had been stayed by Supreme Court until it could re- the case. The others had been d guilty of participation in the ching of a Federal prisoner. pp, Williams and Nolan were giv- sentences of ninety days' imprison- t each, while Gibson, Padgett and yes each received sixty days.

s the big barred doors of the jail ng open to receive the prisoners, diately after sentence had been osed, Warden McKee stood before m.

"At least we are in the hands of a ller," exclaimed Capt. Shipp, who been in many a fight for the Con- eracy, as he espied a G. A. R. but on the lapel of Warden McKee's t. Then turning to his five low prisoners he said:

"Boys, it will be all right."

Warden McKee has inaugurated thods of punishment at the jail as manitarian as the various classes prisoners will allow and he was pared for the reception of the six m from Tennessee.

About a year ago, during the im- sonment of an unusually large num- of women, the warden had fitted a storeroom on the fourth floor of jail and quarters for female pris- rs. It was in this large room, per- twenty by thirty-five feet, that locked the six prisoners.

The Tennesseeans in Jail.

In the room were beds for each of prisoners, while at one end was table upon which "trusties" set their als three times a day. A bath m, adjoining the room, will be used the prisoners exclusively. Four circular windows open to the th and west, giving excellent ws of the front of the buildings.

In fact so pleasant did the prison- find the quarters that Shipp sent attorney, Major Clift, to the office the Supreme Court to withdraw a est that he had made when sent- e was imposed to be sent to the deral prison at Atlanta, instead of the jail in this city.

During the afternoon the six men ived calls from Tennesseeans and ers. Sitting on his straw bed, half ning on his pillow of straw, j. Shipp made this statement:

"We are very well pleased with the tment given us by Warden Mc- , and are delighted with the quar- assigned us."

A few hours in jail made Gibson nostalgic. He told his companions this was not the first time that had been in prison in Washington. "But the other time I was brought as a Confederate prisoner," he said.

The Six Defendants.

This was the second time in the history of the Supreme Court of the United States that that august body had imposed a sentence upon citizens, held guilty of disregarding its mandates. The previous occasion was in another generation.

Heading the little group of six men, found guilty of contempt, as they took their places before the black-robed justices, was Capt. Shipp, the sheriff in Chattanooga, Tenn., when he offended the court. His tall, straight figure, his seamed face and his gray-streaked beard, told of his long service in the army of the Confederacy.

Bowed down under his 76 years, Jeremiah Gibson, the jailer, stood with him. With bedimed eyes he looked upon the long white locks of the chief justice, himself 76 years of age, who would soon pronounce sentence upon him, and send him to prison. He and Capt. Shipp had been found guilty of failing to protect a negro, waiting to be hanged on a charge of a heinous crime against a white woman, after the Supreme Court of the United States had stayed his execution.

Shipp Brave in Court.

The contempt case was taken up yesterday as soon as the justices took their places in the court room. Solicitor Bowers of the Department of Justice, upon receiving a nod of recognition from Chief Justice Fuller, called the attention of the court to the fact that the defendants were in court in response to its order and suggested that the court impose sentence.

The chief justice directed Chief Clerk McKenney to call the defendants before the bar. As the names of the six men, the sheriff, the jailer, the four men charged with having been members of the mob that took Johnson's life, rang through the little court room a stillness as of death settled over all. From each defendant came the solitary word "present." They then stood up for sentence.

Chief Justice Fuller then read the sentences.

Sheriff Shipp took the sentence more calmly than the others. After the chief justice had concluded he walked over to Marshal Wright and asked him where this officer of the court wanted him to go.

Tears came to Padgett's eyes and he used his handkerchief freely. Williams sat down as if exhausted when Attorney Chamlee asked that his client be sent to Atlanta. He remained sitting until Attorneys Clift and Shepperd made similar requests for the other defendants. The marshal of the court deputized the marshal of the District of Columbia to take the men to jail.

Four Held as Lynchers.

Luther Williams, Nick Nolan, Henry Padgett and William Mayes, residents of Chattanooga, found guilty of participation in the lynching of Ed Johnson, formed the rest of the group. Before them all sat the officials of the Department of Justice. Around them in the little court room were their attorneys and other lawyers, while the three rows of seats for spectators were crowded.

The proceedings were practically without precedent. In 1875 John Chiler, a business man of Texas, was brought before the court for contempt in connection with dealings in Texas indemnity bonds, contrary to an order of the Supreme Court. He was fined $250. But that instance lacked the interest of the case yesterday. In it were involved no race question, no lynching, no interference with State jurisdiction; only the majesty of the law as interpreted by the highest court of the land.

The present case originated in the court's decision in March, 1906, to consider the appeal of Johnson from a verdict of the Tennessee courts holding him guilty and sentencing him to be hanged on a charge of assault. The night after the determination of the Supreme Court to review the proceedings was wired to Chattanooga, a mob stormed the jail, took the prisoner out and lynched him.

Story of the Case.

The court was much incensed by the lynching and at its instance the Attorney-General instituted proceedings against Sheriff Shipp, Jailer Gibson and twenty-five others supposed to have been implicated in the lynching, charging them with contempt. Many of the accused were exonerated and in the end only six were found guilty.

The finding of the court was announced in May, just before the close of the term of court, but all the defendants entered motions of rehearing, which had the effect of postponing action until this fall. On November 1 rehearing was denied and the six men ordered before the court for sentence yesterday.

HAD A BIG TRIP.

Two Gainesville People Enjoy Hospitality of LaFayette Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jackson have returned from a two weeks' outing spent with McQueen and T. P. Chaires and families, and Mrs. Green Chaires, of Old Town, LaFayette county.

One week of their time was spent at Horse Shoe bay, on the Gulf Coast, where fish, oysters, and small game, such as duck, quail and squirrel, were kept constantly in camp in abundance.

At the end of the week the party moved camp to a point fifteen or twenty miles, where plenty of deer and bear abound. They were there in plenty, but the bear appeared too sharp for the hunters, and a poor old faithful hound was the only member of the party to come in contact with Bruin.

Four very fine deer were killed, one by T. P. Chaires, which Mr. Jackson declared was the largest he ever saw. Mr. Jackson, by persistent begging, got the horns of this buck, of which he is justly proud, on account of their unusual size.

Each of the gentlemen in the party got a fine buck to their credit, and Mrs. Jackson would have gotten one had it not been for her horse becoming frightened at the approaching deer, when it came near throwing her.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson speak in glowing terms of the hospitality extended them at the hands of friends, of whom they were guests.

OFF FOR A CRUISE.

Commodore Beale, Dr. Herzog and E. E. Voyle to Take a Trip.

A jolly trio consisting of Commodore R. W. Beale, Uniontown, Pa., and Dr. H. Herzog and E. E. Voyle of this city, left a day or two ago for St. Augustine, from whence they will take a most interesting cruise, which it is needless to add will prove an enjoyable and beneficial one.

These gentlemen expect to take a thirty-foot motor launch, eight-horsepower, at St. Augustine, and will cruise leisurely along the Atlantic coast around Cape Sable, into the Gulf and up the coast to Cedar Key, stopping at intervals at their own pleasure.

This trip promises to prove of a rather unique interest, inasmuch as the occupants of the launch propose to take life easy, at the same time braving weather conditions. They are well prepared for such a cruise, however, being equipped with everything possible for comfort. They expect to return to Gainesville about Christmas, when they will probably have some remarkable stories in store for their friends.

MINE HORROR MADE 200 WIDOWS, 1,000 ORPHANS

Fire Breaks Out Again in Fatal Colliery and Hope Is Abandoned for Mine Victims.

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 16.—The three hundred or more miners who were entombed in the St. Paul coal mine by last Saturday's fire, are dead. Some of the bodies lie buried beneath thousands of tons of earth which caved in upon them and it is doubtful whether many of the bodies can ever be recovered.

This was the opinion expressed last night when rescue work was temporarily abandoned. Fires in the mine, which broke out with renewed fierceness early yesterday, made further descends by rescuers impossible.

Fans employed in an effort to carry fresh air and life down to the imprisoned men served only to enliven embers which sprang into flames. Soon the heat and smoke became so dense that it was necessary again to seal the mouth of the hoisting shaft and the men down there, whatever their condition, are locked in as effectively as in a dungeon.

300 Coffins Ordered.

Whether attempts to take out the bodies will be made today depends on the condition of the internal fires. It is possible that carbonic acid gas will be forced to the bottom of the mine to choke the flames. It was said last night that three hundred coffins have been ordered. Half of them will arrive today and half the following day. Meantime the several score of nurses who were rushed here look forward to no prospect of heroic work in reviving injured men. It is believed that no one will be brought out of the mine alive.

Hope swung frequently in the balance yesterday. Before the fire broke out again, rescuers descended four times into the shaft. Then the rumor circulated quickly through the crowds that the men below had been reached and that the reason they were not brought up immediately was that they were exhausted by lack of food, and the smoke.

1,000 Orphans, 200 Widows.

But the truth was far different. The rescuers did, on one occasion, go down three hundred feet to the bottom of the hoisting shaft. Then groping their way with electric lamps and kept alive by oxygen carried with them, they penetrated 150 feet into the bottom gallery. But none of the miners, either dead or alive, was found.

"Hey, are you there?" cried the rescuers, but nothing was heard in response.

It was conjectured the miners had crawled for safety into the recesses remotest from the fire, but to these parts the rescuers were unable to go without re-ascending. Before they could descend again the fire had broken out. Gradually the crowd about the mouth of the shaft began to thin as hope seemed to wane.

The spectacle about the mouth of the wrecked mine at dusk was pathetic. A tall skeleton framework of iron reaching skyward, surrounded by a group of low wooden buildings, which a few days ago had been the scene of industry, suggested by their desolation that hope had been abandoned. Only a half dozen guards patrolled the premises. In the distance, scattered over the field, a few women, wrapped in shawls, looked on in silence.

As a result of the disaster there are in this town of only a few hundred inhabitants at least 1,000 orphans and 200 widows. These are the figures of Dundan McDonald, president of District No. 21, United Mine Workers, who instituted a rollcall of the families of the entombed miners.

Court of Appeals Denies Stay in the Gompers Case

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—Just as the convention of the American Federation of Labor was about to adjourn for the day a telegram was received from Washington announcing that the stay asked for by the attorneys for President Gompers, Vice-President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison, in the proceedings against them for contempt of court, had been denied by the court of appeals of the District of Columbia. President Gompers was plainly surprised and as he read the message to the convention the delegates sat in silence as though dazed by the court's action.

"That means that the resources of the lawyers have been exhausted, doesn't it?" asked one of the delegates.

"The chair is not in a position to state," replied President Gompers. Then as he read the message stating "the mandate goes down Saturday morning," the faces of himself and his fellow officers betrayed the anxiety under which they were laboring.

A telegram signed by the three defendants was at once dispatched to their counsel in Washington asking when it would be necessary for them to put in an appearance to avoid forfeiting their bail bonds, which amount to $12,000, and stating that they would like to remain in Toronto until the close of the convention Saturday evening.

"I am not certain whether under the laws of the District of Columbia we can appeal," said Mr. Gompers after adjournment. "But if we do go, the convention must stay here and carry on its proceedings in a dignified and orderly manner."

"We'll charter a train and all go down with you," volunteered one of the delegates. "And even the seceders will join you," added J. J. Reid, president of the seceding faction of the Electrical Workers.

The suggestion that the convention be adjourned to Washington in the event of the departure of Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, was taken seriously by many of the delegates and it was said a resolution to that effect might be prepared.

Pending the receipt of a reply from Washington the executive council held a long session last night at which plans for meeting the situation which confronts the three laborers were discussed.

Many of the delegates have expressed disapproval of the plan suggested by the Central Labor Union of Philadelphia that a two weeks' general strike be ordered as a protest against the contempt imprisonments.

Sad Drowning of Young Man In Withlacoochee River

Another sad story is reported from Sumter county. Mr. and Mrs. Aiken Caruthers and Mr. and Mrs. Sim Caruthers of Oxford proposed to go for a several days' outing on the Gulf, They did so, and spent the time most delightfully boating, catching and eating fish and oysters.

On returning, when they arrived at the ferry at Alto, near Lake Pansoffkee, they found that the flatboat was on the opposite shore. In order to save time Mr. Aiken Caruthers said that instead of waiting for the ferryman he would swim across the river and bring the boat back with him.

Suiting his actions to his words, he plunged into the river, but his body never rose to the surface. What became of it is still a mystery.

The Withlacoochee is a very black and turbid stream. Mr. Caruthers may have lodged under a tree top, which held his body fast, or he may have plunged into the jaws of an alligator, or he may have become imbedded in the mud. Whatever the cause, it was in every way a lamentable affair, as the young man was newly married, and the young wife was an eye-witness to the said occurrence.

Everything was done that love and anxiety could suggest, but all to no avail.

When the news of the tragedy reached Oxford parties went prepared to thoroughly drag the river, and it is hoped that the body will be rescued.—Ocala Banner.

A little want ad. will accomplish big results.

Sharks Add Horror To Wreck of Large Steamer

SINGAPORE, Nov. 15.—The mail steamer La Seyne of the Messageries Maritimes Service, running between Java and Singapore, and on her way to this port, was in collision early yesterday morning with the steamer Onda of the British-India Line, and sank within two minutes. Seven passengers, including Baron and Baroness Beniczky, the captain of La Seyne, five European officers and 88 others, comprising native passengers and members of the crew, were drowned.

The rescue of 61 passengers, practically from the jaws of shoals of sharks, formed a thrilling incident of the wreck.

The accident occurred about 4 o'clock in the morning in a thick haze. The vessels were steaming at good speed and the Seyne was cut almost in half. The majority of those on board were caught in their berths and carried down with the vessel.

The force of the collision brought the Onda to almost a dead stop and her engines were at once slowed and boats lowered. The rescue proved thrilling, for not only were the rescuing parties impeded by the sharks, but shoals of sharks were already attacking those clinging to pieces of wreckage in the water. Sixty-one persons from the ill-fated steamer were finally dragged into the boats and brought by the Onda to this port. Many of them had been bitten by sharks and several are severely injured.

Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad declined to say more than that the men are just as safe now as they were yesterday at this time. The mine is too big and has too many ramifications to be filled with smoke yet. Besides the smoke is not carried downward by any air currents. If the men were alive yesterday, every man may be alive now.

Mr. Earling caused a house to house canvass of the miners to be made. This showed 256 miners missing, but some of the families were not at home and it is believed when a complete list is obtained the number of entombed miners will exceed three hundred.

The morning dawned hopefully. At an early hour the main shaft, which had been sealed since Saturday, was opened and a determined effort begun by the experts and volunteers to release the living miners, or drag the bodies from the wreckage.

Before 9 o'clock the crowd assembled around the roped enclosure and the workmen broke the seals of the shaft. There was little smoke in evidence and this gave hope to the investigators that the fire had been smothered and that they would at least be enabled to enter the mine.

Find No Dead Bodies.

Mine Examiner James Taylor, R. V. Williams and others appeared in their oxygen outfits and helmets, ready to descend.

Several thousand persons leaned forward and a short time later the experts emerged from the shaft. A report that bodies had been found was denied by the investigators.

The cage was lowered again. Fifteen minutes passed. Then a blast of the horn, signalling the ascent, echoed through the shaft.

The explorers reported that they had walked in a vein of the mine for 150 feet from the base of the shaft and they had found no living nor dead bodies. The atmosphere in this vein was considerably better than had been expected. With the aid of the electric lanterns the searchers had been able to see plainly.

In other veins leading from the shaft much smoke was encountered and nothing could be seen. After consultation it was determined to start the ventilating fan at the opposite side of the mine to clear the galleries of the smoke.

Some believed that the draft might arouse a simmering fire. Others felt assured the fire has been smothered and that ventilation would clear the galleries and make them passable for the searchers.

Fire Again in the Mine.

In half an hour the fans were suddenly ordered stopped. Smoke began to pour from the main shaft. It was soon learned that fire had broken out afresh. Attempts to drown it proved futile so that it became necessary again to seal the shaft.

Inspector Taylor, one of the discoverers of the renewed fire, asserted that the flames had not spread beyond the stable of the mine. The purpose to have a quantity of coffins on hand was agreed upon as soon as the mine was re-sealed, although the information was carefully kept from the afflicted families.

Funerals of two of the men who died in an attempt to rescue the miners on Saturday and of one boy employe who tried to escape by climbing into the lowered cage, but died later, were held yesterday. The men were John Szbranski and Dominick Fremmento. The boy was John Tuhey.

Szbranski was a leader among the Lithuanians and was popular. His bravery in sacrificing his life in an attempt at rescue has made him a hero to his fellow countrymen and all his fellows that could go, attended his funeral in Spring Valley. Fremmento was a grover. He was among the first to enter the cage in which he lost his life.

S. S. OF C. TO MEET.

Eighteenth Annual Session Will Be Held in Gainesville Today.

From Wednesday's Daily:

Gainesville is favored with the eighteenth annual session of the S. S. of C., a negro organization which is very strong, and which ranks among the leading negro societies of the country.

The meeting will be held in Rising Sun Hall, North Arredondo street, and will be called to order at 10 o'clock this morning by Rev. H. M. Fleming, D. D. S. G. E.

This being an annual session, delegates are expected from every section of the United States, and it is expected that this will be one of the greatest and most successful meetings in the history of the order. Many delegates have already arrived, and more are expected on every train today.

JESSE GOSS IS HERE.

Has Been to South Florida, Where He Located a Chicago Company.

Jesse H. Goss, an old Gainesville boy, but who for the past few years has been located in Chicago, where he is connected with J. H. Lord, dealer in Florida lands, arrived in the city Monday night, and is on a brief visit to his mother, Mrs. Mary Goss. It is needless to add that his friends are delighted to welcome him, and will be glad to learn that he is prospering in his Western home.

Mr. Goss has been to Sarasota, to which point he accompanied a party of twenty homeseekers, and whom he states were well pleased.

DEATH OF GOOD LADY.

Mrs. N. Orr, Oldest Winter Resident at Melrose, Passes Away.

MELROSE, Nov. 16.—Once more have the people of Melrose been called upon to mourn the loss of the oldest of the regular winter residents, Mrs. N. Orr, of Hokokus, N. J., who died at her cottage "The Home Acre," on the shores of Lake Santa Fe, on Friday night, aged 84 years.

For the past twenty-six years Mrs. Orr has been with us every winter, adding by her presence much to the intellectual and social features of the Melrose seasons.

In her younger days Mrs. Orr was a valued contributor to many of the best magazines, besides publishing several works of her own.

Rev. C. B. Hedrick officiated at the funeral services, held on Sunday morning, the body being later on shipped North for burial in the family lot in the old historic Parramas cemetery, near Hokokus, N. J.

The sincerest sympathy of the entire community is extended to her three daughters and their families.

Several most welcome showers fell on Friday afternoon and evening, the total rainfall being 1.70 inches.

New arrivals at the Huffman House are Dr. J. Paxton and wife, Paterson, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Doyng, Westfield, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. S. Champion of South Lynn, Conn., are again at Mrs. Lee's.

PELLAGRA AT ROCHELLE.

Dr. J. H. Colson Reports a Well Developed Case at That Point.

Pellagra, that much-talked-of disease, it seems is invading Florida and this section, according to Dr. J. H. Colson, who stated to a Sun reporter that a case exists at Rochelle.

Dr. Colson has been treating this case for the past few days, having been called some time during the past week, but has just pronounced it pellagra. He states that the patient has been suffering for several weeks, but conditions are very much improved.

County Commissioner S. B. Owens of New Smyrna shot and instantly killed W. P. Robinson at Oak Hill Saturday night about dark. It seems that there was some dispute about a house that Robinson wanted to rent from Owens, and as the latter refused to rent it and walked away, Robinson pulled a knife and Owens had to fire in self-defense.

SUFFERED THREE YEARS WITH CHRONIC CATARRH.

Mr. Disch, of Louisville, Gives Pe-ru-na the Credit for His Recovery, and Recommends it to His Friends.

MR. JOSEPH F. DISCH, 454 W. Jefferson St., Louisville, Ky., writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending your valuable Peruna as a catarrh remedy.

"I have been suffering for the past three years with catarrh, and had used almost everything in the market until I read of your wonderful Peruna remedy. After using two bottles of Peruna I can cheerfully recommend it to any one having the same disease.

"I was almost compelled to give up my business, until I used your remedy, and I have never been bothered with catarrh since."

Hon. C. Slemp, Congressman from Virginia, writes: "I can cheerfully say that I have used your valuable remedy, Peruna, with beneficial results, and can unhesitatingly recommend your remedy to my friends as an invigorating tonic and an effective and permanent cure for catarrh."

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna Tablets. Sold by druggists, and manufactured by The Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Man-a-lin an Ideal Laxative.

The Juniper Hunting Club, composed of prominent business and professional men of Kentucky, who recently purchased a tract of 25,000 acres of land east of the Ocklawaha river, are expected in Ocala soon for a stay of several days.

A little want ad. will accomplish big results.

HUSTLING MICANOPY WANTS GOOD SERVICE

VEGETABLE CROPS NOT SO EXTENSIVE AT THIS SEASON.

Beans and Peas Now Being Marketed by the Growers, But Prices Are Low.

Few towns in the State outside of the county seats can boast of the great showing that is being made by the progressive element of Micanopy, for within the past three years it has grown from almost a small village to quite a little city, with large and ample brick buildings for the accommodating merchants.

There is now some twelve brick buildings in the place and they are all occupied by live, up-to-date merchants who believe in the word hustle and their every effort shows that they live up to it.

The Sun representative was pleased to visit the city again on Tuesday and noted with much interest the marked improvement that had been made in the business houses, as well as the immense stocks now being carried by the merchants.

We found our old friends, Dr. Montgomery, Dr. Watkins, E. C. Chitty, J. E. Thrasher, N. B. Mott and others all busy people, but ever ready to give some time to the stranger.

Just at the present time that place is much worked up over the schedule and mail service that is being furnished them and they are working along the same lines that Gainesville has started for a better service, both as to mail and passenger.

From communications received by Dr. Watkins, it seems that they will be rewarded in their efforts, which shows the great amount of enterprise and energy they possess.

The trucking interests, which largely support Micanopy, are not as great at this season as formerly, but there are a number of very fine farms in the neighborhood and bean and pea shipping is plentiful. The cabbage crop, which is just now being transplanted, is promising, and the early spring will show great activity and plenty of truck for the markets.

Some of the packing houses are open and choice oranges and grapefruit are being shipped, but the market is not as satisfactory as could be, and will cause others to hold their fruit.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER.

Meetings at First Baptist Church Are Deeply Interesting.

The services being held at the First Baptist church during the present week under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Union are proving of deep interest to all who attend.

The program for this afternoon will be as follows:

Subject, Temperance.

Song—"Rescue the Perishing."

Scripture—Galatians, Fifth Chapter.

Paper—"Should Florida Have Prohibition, and Why?"

Song—"Yield Not to Temptation."

W. C. T. U. Motto: "For God and Home and Native Land."

Three papers from above motto: (a) For God's Sake. (b) For Home's Sake. (c) For Sake of Native Land.

Song—"Throw Out the Life-Line."

Prayer for State-wide prohibition.

A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in the work.

FLORIDA NEWS IN BRIEF

The Dade County Citrus Exchange is preparing to handle a large crop of oranges and grapefruit.

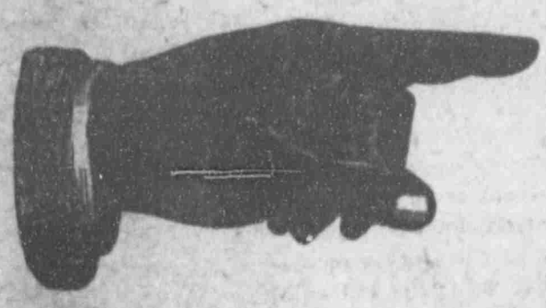
William A. Cook, who was frightfully slashed with a razor by Frank Richardson several days ago in Tampa, died Saturday night.

Orange City has frequently been visited by showers of late, hence a marked improvement has been noticed in the groves and gardens.

The firemen of West Palm Beach held their regular meeting last Friday and made arrangements for their annual Thanksgiving ball, which will be a masquerade affair this year.

The Zorayda Club in St. Augustine is being gotten in readiness to open for the season on Thanksgiving. The Knickerbocker Orchestra will again return to the club, with the latest musical hits from New York.

The torpedo boats Wilkes, Thornton and Tingey arrived at the Pensacola navy yards late Saturday night from Texas ports, where they had been since escorting President Taft's flotilla down the Mississippi.



To all persons subject to Bilious Attacks, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Dizziness, Heartburn, Vertigo (blind staggers), Foul-Breath, Sallow Complexion or other symptoms of a Torpid Liver, WE SAY,

TAKE

MURDERS PLENTY AT TUESDAY'S SESSION

COURT WAS BUSY MOST OF DAY WITH THESE TRIALS.

One Negro Was Convicted, Two Others Plead Guilty, and Third Was in Hands of Jury Late in Night.

From Wednesday's Daily Sun:

The third day of the second week of the Circuit Court was full of interest, a number of murder cases having been disposed of.

The court was called to order at 9 o'clock, Judge Wills, State Attorney Rivers, Sheriff Ramsey, Clerk Wienges and other officers in their respective places.

The venire of fifteen special jurors, ordered on Monday, was returned by Sheriff Ramsey as follows:

A. C. Jones, E. H. Waters, L. W. Jackson, John Cowart, John G. White, J. B. Sheffield, C. O. Robinson, J. R. Zetrouer, Jr., T. J. Lindsay, S. P. Nipper, C. V. McQueen, W. J. Knight, J. B. Smith, M. N. Sanders, G. F. P. Howard.

S. P. Nipper and W. J. Knight were excused by the court.

The following cases were disposed of:

State vs. March and Steve Wallace, larceny of cattle and receiving stolen property; arraigned and plead not guilty.

State vs. Priestly Parker, assault with intent to murder; defendant arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

State vs. Jim Lowry, murder in first degree; defendant tried by jury, and verdict of murder in second degree. Lowry was sentenced to life imprisonment in penitentiary.

State vs. Clarence Smith, murder. Defendant withdrew plea of not guilty, and entered plea of guilty in second degree, which was accepted, and prisoner was sentenced to life imprisonment.

State vs. James Simons, murder. Defendant withdrew plea of not guilty and entered plea of guilty in second degree, and was sentenced for life.

State vs. John and Cliff Atkinson, breaking and entering; continued by State.

State vs. N. J. Williams, selling liquor; continued upon motion of State.

State vs. Jim Lundy, murder. Defendant arraigned and case went to trial, the jury being out until a late hour without reaching a verdict.

In the case of the State vs. Jim Johnson and James Hunt, charged with obstructing a railroad track by tying a mule thereon, a severance was granted as to Jim Johnson, and James Hunt was placed on trial. At a late hour last night the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

A special venire of fifty was ordered in the case of the State vs. Lewis Martin, Cronin Martin and George Powers, charged with rape, said venire returnable at 9 o'clock this morning.

Court adjourned until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

A DELIGHTFUL OCCASION.

Reception Tendered to Sister Esther Carlotta Tuesday Afternoon.

One of the most thoroughly enjoyed social functions occurring in this city in some time was the reception tendered Sister Esther Carlotta, president of the Florida Division, U. D. C., by Kirby Smith Chapter at the home of Mrs. H. H. McCreary Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The hallway and parlors had been decorated very appropriately, small Confederate flags and cut flowers being used to present a most inspiring and beautiful effect.

In the receiving line were the two chapter presidents, Mesdames McCreary and Kelley, Sister Esther Carlotta, president of the State Division, Dr. Davis and Mrs. Duncan, visiting Daughters in the city, and many of the chapter members and their friends called during the afternoon to greet the honored guest.

The following program was rendered and greatly appreciated:

Chapter called to order.

Lord's Prayer.

Suwannee River—Sung by Chapter.

Instrumental solo—Miss Julia Wainwright.

Recitation, "Bill Thay"—Miss Belle Sadler.

Vocal solo, "Florida, My Florida"—Miss Sue Simpson.

Address—Sister Esther Carlotta.

Vocal duet, "I Would That My Love"—(Mendelssohn)—Misses Pedrick and Sadler. Piano accompanist, Miss Isla Eddins.

Instrumental music—Miss Margaret Merchant.

"Dixie."

The address by Sister Carlotta was a great treat in itself. She gave a brief and concise account of the work done at the National convention, recently held at Houston, Tex., at which she held a proxy from Kirby Smith Chapter. Her remarks were listened to with a great deal of interest, as the ladies felt that they were in the presence of one who was thoroughly familiar with her subject, and all phases of U. D. C. work.

At the close of her remarks the president presented her with a beautiful bouquet of red and white crysanthemums, in behalf of the chapter historian, Mrs. F. M. Prewitt.

Delicious refreshments were served by Misses Louise Walker, Margaret Merchant and Irene McCreary, who wore dainty white dresses with red aprons.

A Broken Back.

That pain in your back caused by lumbago, stiff muscles or a strain, is an easy thing to get rid of. Ballard's Snow Liniment cures rheumatism, lumbago, sore and stiff muscles, strains, sprains, cuts, burns, bruises, scalds and all aches and pains. You need a bottle in your house. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Oranges Moving Slowly.

From Wednesday's Daily Sun:

H. D. Wood of Evinston, member of the firm of Wood & Evins, general merchants, was among the visitors to the county capital yesterday. Mr. Wood states that the growers have not yet begun shipping oranges. Only one carload has been sold, which brought $1.25 per box, f. o. b. Evinston. They were bought by Atlanta parties. Some beans and lettuce have been shipped, but the crop has been materially cut short and damaged by the continued drought, especially lettuce, which has gone to seed in the fields.

Itching, bleeding, protruding or blind piles yield to Doan's Ointment. Chronic cases soon relieved, finally cured. Druggists all sell it.

Keep your eye on the want ads. There may be something advertised which is of interest to you.

FEELING GOOD

Is an experience that doesn't always go with new shoes unless you get them at Smith's. Then you can't help feeling joyful and happy, for all the pain of "breaking them in" is discounted, and you are sure of a perfect fit. Comfort, with all the style, grace and beauty that it is possible to put into a shoe, enters into those we sell. The result of years of experience, skill and perseverence.

No votes can be solicited in our store. Request your friends to get votes and bring them to you, or vote them for you while in our store. We have to do this in order to make contest fair to all contestants.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR BILLS FOR FERTILIZER

PRESS BULLETIN NO 130 PROF. A. W. BLAIR

Shows the Great Value of the Beggarweed in Fertilizer Properties to Farmers of Florida.

One of the most valuable papers issued by the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station is Press Bulletin No. 130, which shows farmers how to cut down their fertilizer bills. It is by Prof. A. W. Blair, and is as follows:

"According to the report of the State Chemist for 1908, Florida spent in that year about $1,680,000 for nitrogen (ammonia) in fertilizers. The greater portion of this money went outside the State to pay for sulphate of ammonia, nitrate of soda, dried blood, bone meal, tankage, etc. All who are engaged in general farming, and many fruit and vegetable growers, can considerably lessen their expenses for fertilizers, without injuring their crops, and thus bring about a saving to the State. The cost of the three fertilizing constituents in mixed fertilizers is about 5 cents a pound for phosphoric acid, and the same for potash, while nitrogen costs 15 cents a pound. (As used in connection with fertilizers the terms nitrogen and ammonia mean nearly the same, one pound of nitrogen being equivalent to 1.214 pounds of ammonia.) It is possible for the agriculturist to do equally well without buying much nitrogen, and so he can materially reduce his fertilizer bill. For the beggarweed, the cowpea, and the velvet bean Florida has a natural factory in which the most expensive fertilizing element, nitrogen, is gathered free from the air. Knowing this, it seems extravagant to continue sending outside of the State for large quantities of nitrogenous fertilizers.

Free Nitrogen From the Air.

"It is well known that the legumes, such as beggarweed, cowpeas and velvet beans, have the power of utilizing nitrogen from the air and storing it up, so that it may be used for other crops. Some chemists claim that the greater portion of the nitrogen of these crops usually comes from the air. If the farmer will take advantage of this provision of nature it is easy for him to cut down his fertilizer bill. We can estimate roughly how much nitrogen any legume will add to the soil, if we know the analysis of the crop and the yield per acre. Clean beggarweed hay, cut when the plants were just coming into bloom, contained 3.3 to 3.4 per cent of nitrogen. The dry stubble and roots contained about 1.45 per cent and the weight was about a quarter of the weight of the hay. Hence one ton of hay would yield 67 pounds of nitrogen, which, at 20 cents a pound, would be worth $13.40; while the roots and stubble (500 pounds) would give seven and a quarter pounds of nitrogen, worth $1.45. The value of the nitrogen from this ton of hay, including stubble and roots, would be $14.85. If we only allow that one-half of the nitrogen comes from the air we have utilized the nitrogen of the air to the value of $7.42, which is nearly as much as we would have to pay for 500 pounds of bright cottonseed meal. But we ought to get two tons of beggarweed hay per acre, which would then double our gain of nitrogen. If the beggarweed is left on the ground to decay, the plant food that the crop took from the soil, and the nitrogen that was taken from the air, are returned to the soil. If the crop is taken off as hay and no manure returned, there is still some compensation, since the fallen leaves, roots and stubble have in them some of the nitrogen that came from the air. If the beggarweed is taken off as hay and the manure returned to the land, most of the fertilizing constituents go back to the soil.

Fertilizing Cotton and Citrus.

"The cotton grower will possibly fertilize his fields with 200 pounds of acid phosphate, costing $1.60; 150 pounds of bright cottonseed meal, costing $2.50, and 100 pounds of kainit, costing 65 cents, the total cost being $4.75 per acre. But a crop of beggarweed may supply to the soil, from the air, about as much nitrogen as there is in 500 pounds of cottonseed meal. From this we see that the cotton grower can, by growing beggarweed and omitting the nitrogen, reduce his fertilizer bill by more than one-half, and still have more nitrogen than if he had bought the usual fertilizers and grown no beggarweed.

"When growing beggarweed in orange groves harm may be done to the trees as well as to the pocket book, if, when the time comes to fertilize, the grower uses about as much nitrogen as he would have done if the grove had not borne a crop of beggarweed. The trees and fruit may then show the ill effects of too much nitrogen. Much of the nitrogen that would otherwise have been washed out during the summer rains is stored up in the beggarweed, to be returned to the soil as the plants and roots decay in the fall and winter. In case none, or only part of the hay is removed, it is doubtful if the fall fertilizer ought to contain any nitrogen at all."

WHAT IS HYOMEI?

You Have Heard About the Catarrh Cure J. W. McCollum & Co. Guarantee.

Hyomei is a wonderful antiseptic, so powerful that it promptly destroys germ life, yet its action on the mucous membrane is extremely soothing and healing. It relieves catarrh in five minutes; it cures in a few weeks or money back.

It is made chiefly of eucalyptus and eucalyptol taken from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia. The medical profession knows that eucalyptus is an absolutely certain germ destroyer and with the active principles of eucalyptus as a base Hyomei is made more efficient, pleasant and quick acting by the addition of Thymol, an antiseptic and disinfectant largely employed in the Listerian System. Guaiacol and other important medicinal agents are also included in the Hyomei formula, which, without doubt, is the greatest destroyer of catarrh germs the world has ever known.

Hyomei is a powerful, penetrating antiseptic that is pleasant to use. It does not contain a particle of cocaine, opium or any habit-forming or injurious drug.

No dosing the stomach when you use Hyomei. Just breathe it in through the small inhaler that comes with each outfit. Sold by leading druggists everywhere and in Gainesville by J. W. McCollum & Co. $1.00 for complete outfit.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB.

Interesting Meeting Was Held at the Home of Mrs. C. A. Colclough.

The regular meeting of the Twentieth Centruy Club was held on Monday, November 8th, at the elegant home of Mrs. C. A. Colclough on West Liberty street.

The business part was judiciously presided over by the president, Mrs. J. M. Taylor, who disposed of the various matters presented to the meeting in a very diplomatic manner, to the satisfaction of all the members present.

At the calling of the roll the members responded with an appropriate quotation from Mrs. Browning on Italy.

Mrs. J. L. Medlin in a pleasing manner was leader for the afternoon.

An elaborate program was arranged for the afternoon. Mrs. J. M. Dell, Jr., read a most instructive paper on Venice, "The Dream City of Adriatic," in such an effective manner as to cause the various members to imagine themselves transported to that beautiful city on the sea, gliding along in lovely gondolas.

Mrs. A. R. Harper read quite an able production on "Naples By the Sea," much to the edification of all members present.

A duet was pleasingly rendered by Mesdames B. F. Hampton and C. L. Crow.

A paper on Milan and the Italian Lakes was prepared by Mrs. W. B. Taylor.

An interesting article on "Florence, Art Capital of Italy," by Mrs. G. P. Morris, added much to the enjoyment of the afternoon, followed by a recitation by Mrs. W. J. Denby.

The afternoon was one to be long remembered by the club.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the residence of Mrs. E. E. Cannon, on November 22nd, at 3 o'clock.

MEETING CITY COUNCIL.

Communication Received From Ministerial Association Asking Aid.

The City Council convened in called session Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, there being present Aldermen Burnett, president pro-tem, Goodwin, Graves and Phifer.

Owing to the absence of some of the members of the council little business was transacted, about the only thing being the presentation of a communication from the Ministerial Association in regard to providing a fund for relief of the poor and distressed of the city. This communication was received and filed, after which the council adjourned until next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Willis G. Smith of Jacksonville attempted to take her life on Wednesday, for the second time. She was found on the kitchen floor unconscious, with the gas jets turned on.

C. O. Robison of Kirkwood was among those who favored the county capital with a visit Tuesday. Mr. Robison owns one of the handsomest and most prolific orange groves in that section of the county.

Chas. W. Bartleson, Jr., of Jacksonville, is in the city and has entered the law department of the University of Florida. Mr. Bartleson formerly resided here and has many friends who are glad to greet him again.

Malcolm G. Knight, one of the leading business men of High Springs, was a visitor to the county capital yesterday. Mr. Knight has served his progressive town both as mayor and councilman, "making good" in both positions.

After Saturday we will have the fifth solid car of mules and horses direct from the markets. They will be personally selected and we can guarantee them in every way. Especially suitable for farm and heavy work. Oliver & Kite.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wood and Monroe Venable of Archer were among the visitors to the city Tuesday. They came in Mr. Venable's handsome Ford car, and made the time in one hour and ten minutes, which is good, considering the condition of the road.

Among those who spent Monday in this city was Dr. Frank McRae of Melrose, who came over in his handsome little Brush runabout. Dr. McRae is well pleased with his machine, which he has learned to manipulate with the efficiency of a professional.

C. H. Coles & Son, the jewelers and opticians, have a change of advertisement in this issue, to which the attention of our readers is called. They are calling especial attention to the new Invisible Bifocals, and have something interesting to say in favor of these spectacles.

The marriage docket has been rather slow for the past few weeks, but Judge Mason has issued a few licenses within the past two or three days. Among these was a license to J. F. Dowdy and Magdalina Cribbs, white, two well-known young people of the western section of the county.

S. O. Barron, the druggist of Bell, and one of the leading spirits of that progressive town, was transacting business in Gainesville Tuesday. Mr. Barron, like other residents of the West End, regrets the annulment of the Wilcox-Citra train, which afforded a great convenience to the people of his section.

C. V. McQueen of Lexington, one of the most widely-known citizens of the West End, was a business visitor to this city Tuesday. Mr. McQueen states that the crops and cattle are suffering severely for want of rain. The crops are scorching, while the ponds are dry, and the cattle secure water with great difficulty.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coe have gone to Limona, near Tampa, where they were called by telegram announcing the illness of the former's grandfather, Mr. Platt. They had just returned from a pleasant visit to Chattanooga and other points, and had not gotten rested good before they were enroute to the South Florida town in Mr. Coe's automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Dempsey and daughter, Mrs. J. T. Manning, arrived in the city yesterday morning from Asheville, N. C. Mrs. Dempsey and Mrs. Manning have been in North Carolina for the benefit of the latter's health for the past few weeks, and friends regret that her condition was not improved by the change. She is yet quite low, but it is hoped that the balmy Florida atmosphere will restore her to her normal health.

WILLISTON IS PROSPERING.

Williston Manufacturing Co. Developing That Thriving Town.

Williston, which has always been one of the progressive villages of Levy county, continues to forge ahead, being pushed by such energetic concerns as the Williston Manufacturing Company.

Among the most important improvements in Williston of recent date may be mentioned the elegant new hotel, the Hotel Savoy, which is just completed, and which would be a credit to any town of much larger population.

Hotel Savoy is constructed of wood, and the architecture is very attractive. It contains in the neighborhood of twenty-five rooms, is equipped with modern conveniences, and inasmuch as the hostelry is to be operated under the management of Mrs. Morgan, formerly of Meredith, it will no doubt prove a popular resort among the traveling men.

The Williston Manufacturing Company, owners of Hotel Savoy, have also completed an elegant two-story brick building. The dimensions are 40x75 feet. The lower floor will be occupied as a bank and store, while the second story will be devoted to offices.

The good people of Williston are to be congratulated upon their energy, which has brought that town into prominence throughout this entire section.

AT THE METHODIST CHURCH.

Evangelist Christian Continues to Attract Big Congregations.

The religious meetings at the First Methodist church, which are being conducted by Rev. T. M. Christian, continue to attract good congregations, notwithstanding the fact that they are being conducted at a time when our people are very busy, especially the morning service.

Those who attend these meetings are becoming more deeply interested every day, and before the close of the revival it is anticipated that a great deal of good will be accomplished.

Rev. Christian is an earnest and able speaker, and his subjects are full of interest.

Services are being held at 9 o'clock a. m. and 7 p. m. daily, and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

The song service by the choir of about fifty voices, led by Prof. Milam, is furnishing some excellent music, which is a great feature to the services.

Mrs. Waters Indisposed.

Friends of Mrs. Rosa Waters—in fact the public patrons generally of the postoffice—have missed her from the general delivery window for the past two or three days, and regretted to learn that she was indisposed. Mrs. Waters and Mrs. Zetrouer form a most clever and accommodating pair at this window, and patrons feel lost without them. Mrs. Zetrouer has been exercising every effort to fill the position since Mrs. Waters' illness, but finds it difficult, as the position really requires the service of two clerks. It is hoped that Mrs. Waters will be enabled to resume her position within the next day or two.

Married in Rochelle.

Justice J. A. Roberts of Rochelle was a visitor to the city Tuesday.

Justice Roberts states that on last Sunday afternoon he had the privilege and pleasure to unite in the holy bonds of matrimony Joseph Cherry of Rochelle and Miss Leola Leverett, a charming young lady of Irvine. The ceremony was performed in Rochelle, immediately after which the happy couple left for their future home in Irvine, followed by congratulations of many friends.

How About a Pair of Those New Invisible Bifocals?

No segments to come off. No cement to discolor. No dividing lines to collect dirt.

The Invisible Bifocal is ground in one piece....

They renew youth. Through them the man or woman of fifty sees again with the eyes of thirty.

Let us make an examination of your eyes and give you a correct fitting.
